WATCH FIGHT IN 3 STATES OVER DRY LAW

Democrats Feel Sure of Carrying Massachusetts, New York, Illinois

PREPARING FOR 1932
Al Smith's Influence Likely to Help Party Candidate in Bay State

Washington (CPA)—The eyes of the political world are on Massachusetts, New York and Illinois where prohibition has so complicated the campaign that the Democrats in each of the three states are confident of a substantial victory. It is unusual for the Democrats to say they are going to capture Illinois and it would have been unusual for them to feel certain of Massachusetts had it not been for the fact that former Governor Smith carried the electoral vote of the Bay state two years ago notwithstanding the landslide against him in the rest of the country.

The race in Massachusetts like the one in Illinois centers on the senatorial contest, while in New York the gubernatorial campaign of Governor Roosevelt has a national aspect because it may determine his chances for the presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket. Massachusetts has one Democratic senator and has a good chance of electing another one this year because former Senator Butler, the Republican nominee, is dry while his opponent, Marcus Coolidge, is wet. Whenever a Democratic senator is elected from Massachusetts in either a presidential year or an off-year he has to have substantial Republican support. Mr. Butler as former chairman of the Republican national committee and a close friend of former President Coolidge can command the support of conservative Republicans but here again the prohibition issue may cost him a good many conservative Republican votes.

AL HAS INFLUENCE
The entrance of former Governor Smith into the campaign is likely to have a helpful effect on the fortunes of the Democratic nominee in Massachusetts. He comes at a time when the people are more interested in prohibition than they were two years ago and when the handicaps of

MAY NOT YIELD BANDIT SUSPECTS TO WISCONSIN

Pine City, Minn.—(CP)—Two men held at Pine City primarily in connection with the robbery of the Burnett County State bank at Webster, Wis., will not be released to Wisconsin authorities unless it is definitely decided they had no hand in a series of north central Minnesota holdups.

Warrants had been issued from Grantsburg, Wis., for Leonard McCarthy and Joseph Miller, who were captured in a swamp near here. Minnesota authorities, however, declined to give up the men. The Minnesota Bankers association wants to have them prosecuted in Minnesota if it is possible to tie any recent bank robberies to them.

TWO STATES LOOKING FOR NEWLYWED COUPLE

Marshallfield, (CP)—Illinois and Wisconsin authorities today were asked to search for Samuel Wilson, district manager of a Milwaukee life insurance firm, and his bride of a few weeks, the former Bessie Chapman, Chicago school teacher.

Mrs. Chapman left several weeks ago from Chicago, authorities said, to obtain release from her teaching contract. She was followed shortly after by her husband who told friends he would be gone but a few days. Letters sent to Mrs. Chapman at her Chicago address and to her former home in Bluffs, Ill., have been returned here. Police expressed the fear the couple might have met with foul play. Company officials said they believed Wilson's accounts straight.

Wife Calls Off Authorities In Search For Galva Banker

Refuses to Take Officers Into Confidence — Get Ransom Demands

Chicago (CP)—A special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune from Galva today said that the family of Earl L. Yocum, missing banker, had agreed to pay ransom, reported to be $50,000, to a gang of men who abducted him.

Galva, Ill.—(CP)—The fate of Earl Yocum, kidnapped banker, rested today in the hands of his wife.

The banker's wife announced that she had called off all outside help in

Link Sleuth With Gang In Detroit

Detroit (CP)—The transactions of a high police official with a coal company which police describe as a "front" for a gangster organization were under scrutiny today by Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox and, supposedly, by the special crime grand jury which yesterday seized the company's records.

Commissioner Wilcox revealed one transaction after he had relieved the official, Robert A. MacPherson, deputy chief of detectives, from active duty. MacPherson, Inspector Norval Marlett and Lieut. Max Waldvogel, all of the detective bureau, were relieved at the request of the grand jury, which, however, made public no reason for its action.

Wilcox said that he sent officers to raid the Capitol Coal company early this month after New York authorities had intercepted a shipment of machine guns consigned to the firm. The raiders were refused admission to the company's office because they had no search warrant, but the books later were submitted to Wilcox.

One entry showed an account of $112 for coal delivered to MacPherson's name, Wilcox said, and this account bore the notation "transferred to A. Meli." Angelo Meli, president of the company, is described by police as a leader of east side gangsters.

The commissioner said that he questioned MacPherson about the transaction and that the deputy chief explained that he formerly bought coal from the Capitol company, but took away his patronage when he learned that "the place was run by a bunch of gangsters." MacPherson was quoted as saying that he always paid for his coal in cash and that he did not understand the Meli notation.

BRAZIL PRESIDENCY OFFERED TO VARGAS

Selection Believed to Put End to Four-cornered Insurgent Dispute

Sao Paulo, Brazil (CP)—Thousands of gaucho, or cowboy revolutionary troops from Rio Grande do Sul are arriving in Sao Paulo today from the south. It is expected that before tomorrow this city will be occupied by 10,000 insurgent troops, headed by General Miguel Costa.

Pernambuco, Brazil (CP)—The Brazilian insurgents' four-cornered fight for control of the government, without a head by deposition of Dr. Washington Luis, was believed here today to have been settled finally with selection of Dr. Getulio Vargas to lead the new regime.

Advices from Rio de Janeiro indicated that the situation created by rival political antagonisms of the military junta which ousted Dr. Washington Luis as president, Dr. Vargas, leader of the southern revolutionary army, insurgent elements in Minas Gerais, and Captain Juarez Tavora, leader of the northern revolution army, had been entirely cleared up.

Captain Juarez received a telegram from the chief of general staff, stating "General Fragozo (head of the military junta) has invited Dr. Vargas to assume charge of the government. Accordingly, hostilities should be suspended immediately." Previously the president of Rio Grande do Sul (presumably Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, president pro-tem) had telegraphed the northern leader to continue his march beyond Bahia, where he is now located. If he felt it necessary, the search for her husband, who disappeared Saturday, and that she was "handling the matter herself." She termed speculation that her husband was held in Chicago for $50,000 as "all guess work" and added that no one, except herself, had any knowledge of the supposed ransom demand.

Meanwhile, county authorities abandoned their hunt for the missing man when Mrs. Yocum declined to take them into her confidence. Two special delivery letters have been received by Mrs. Yocum, one from Keokuk, Ill., and the other from Chicago. Both are reported to have dealt with the ransom question.

The apparent anxiety of the Yocum family to drop the investigation was viewed with apprehension by officers of the Illinois Bankers' association. They expressed belief that if an extortion gang obtained "easy money" from Yocum that other small town owners would become the constant prey of kidnapers.

"With no cooperation from Mrs. Yocum we can do little now," A. F. Sherwood of Chicago, secretary of the bankers' association was quoted as saying, adding that "just as soon as Yocum is released we are going into action."

The criminal department of the association revealed at the same time that it has been conducting a quiet investigation of the recent kidnappings of William Urban and Frank Daugherty, both of Peoria, and of a Des Moines, Iowa, cigar store owner.

TRAGEDY REVEALS DRINKING PARTIES

Dead Girl's Escort Denies He Served Liquor to U. of W. Students

Madison (CP)—Dr. C. H. Bunting, University of Wisconsin pathologist, who conducted a post-mortem examination of the body of Miss Marie C. McCarthy, 18-year-old University of Wisconsin art student, fatally burned in a cottage resort here last week, said today it would be "two or three days" before his report would be ready. He made the examination after the dead girl's parents said they believed she had been drugged.

A few more hopeful watchers at the mine said there was a bare possibility of some of the trapped men surviving if they had kept their ledge doors closed. The force of a mine explosion is upwards, they said, and indications were that the blast occurred between the twelfth and thirteenth levels.

No one would conjecture as to the cause of the explosion, which crushed Donnelly against wooden struts at the mine head, ripped sheet iron housings off the top of the shaft and shot flames 200 feet into the air, casting a reflection on the gray walls of the state penitentiary half a mile away.

Although the mine is on prison property it is owned privately and operated by civilian labor. It is said to be one of the most modern in the state, with every available safety device.

Existence of the damp added to fears for the trapped men. It is quickly fatal, although not explosive.

Rescuers were repairing telephone lines and were in touch with the engine room at all times. The first rescue group was led into the mine 20 minutes after the explosion by W. C. Robbins, district mine inspector. Three hundred or more persons were gathered about the shaft mouth and the engine room this morning.

All except four of the trapped miners are married. Most of them have families.

SPECIAL POLICE OUT IN ONTARIO RED OUTBREAK

Fort Arthur, Ont.—(CP)—A force of 800 auxiliary policemen, armed with shot and hammer handles, patrolled the streets of Fort Arthur last night as a result of Communist demonstrations.

Wearing distinguishing white arm bands, the citizen police marched through the downtown streets in ten groups but no untoward incident occurred. Meanwhile, at a meeting of the city council demands of $25 men, described as the committee of the unemployed association, were read and referred to a special committee of the council named to select employees for relief undertakings.

RESCUE CREW DRIVEN BACK BY COAL DAMP

Officials Abandon Hope That Entombed Men Will Be Found Alive

McAlester, Okla.—(CP)—Gas today drove rescue workers from the lower levels of the Wheatley No. 4 coal mine, tomb of 29 miners since an explosion last night, and officials virtually abandoned hope that any of the trapped men would be found alive.

One man, William Donnelly was killed at the head of the mine by the blast. Bodies of four trapped miners were sighted on the sixteenth level.

Several rescue workers were overcome by the gas, known as coal damp, and one, John Moore, was carried from the mine.

The damp sent rescuers numbering about fifty back to the tenth level of the mine where ventilation was good. Efforts were being made to obtain brattice cloth to curtain off mine entries and aid ventilation lower down.

Workers estimated it would require six men from five to six hours to carry one body from the lower levels, because of the mass of debris to be traversed. It was impossible to send a car into the affected regions.

Miller H. Hay, chief mine inspector, who entered the workings on his arrival here early today from Ada, Okla., was authority for the statement "there was little hope for the men trapped in the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth levels."

SOME STILL HOPEFUL

A few more hopeful watchers at the mine said there was a bare possibility of some of the trapped men surviving if they had kept their ledge doors closed. The force of a mine explosion is upwards, they said, and indications were that the blast occurred between the twelfth and thirteenth levels.

No one would conjecture as to the cause of the explosion, which crushed Donnelly against wooden struts at the mine head, ripped sheet iron housings off the top of the shaft and shot flames 200 feet into the air, casting a reflection on the gray walls of the state penitentiary half a mile away.

Although the mine is on prison property it is owned privately and operated by civilian labor. It is said to be one of the most modern in the state, with every available safety device.

City Takes On Festive Air For Fall Festival

College-age and other downtown business streets today assumed festive air as committees in charge of the first annual Fall Festival began decorating for the unusual retailing event which starts Wednesday and ends Saturday night. Pumpkins, corn stalks and other materials typical of frosty fall days are used by the decorators to give the proper atmosphere.

The decorations, however, are merely atmosphere and are not the important things to be remembered about the Fall Festival. This is a cooperative effort by 80 wide-awake and progressive retailers to show the buying public of Outagamie and neighboring counties what they have to offer in fall merchandise.

For days and days these merchants have been working and planning to obtain the finest lines of merchandise and to display them in a manner that will be attractive to the buying public. Neither effort nor time has been spared to make this the outstanding event in Appleton this year.

The Festival is so far reaching that city officials, working through the police department, have offered their cooperation to make it a real city-wide affair in

5-Day Week Is Favored By Raskob

Democratic Leader Also Suggests National Referendum on Prohibition

New York (CP)—Just a week before election, the chairman of the Democratic National committee last night suggested a national referendum on prohibition be made one of his party's objectives if it obtains power.

John J. Raskob advanced the proposal as one of six points in the course of a campaign address carried by radio all over the country. Taking first place in his program was the five day week for working men. His other suggestions included determination by the Federal Trade commission of the legality of proposed business combinations in advance of their formation; abolition of the capital gains and loss tax; appointment of tariff commission members for life to take tariff-making out of politics, and employment of caution by congress to have all its legislation square "with good economics."

"Is there any dry so stubborn," asked Raskob, "that he would insist on the country being dry if the people by referendum abolished the eighteenth amendment? Or is there any wet so bigoted that he would refuse to abide by the decision if a referendum showed the country to be dry?"

DEPLORES "HOOK-UPS"
The economic chairman, who also is a director of the Association against the Prohibition Amendment, said it was a "sorry plight indeed" to see ministers and other good citizens "unconsciously working hand in hand with bootleggers and racketeers in an effort to deny the people

REPORT TWO HOLDUPS TO MILWAUKEE POLICE

Milwaukee (CP)—Three men held up three customers, the proprietor and his wife at the West View cafe shortly after midnight this morning and escaped with $70 in cash and $300 in checks. They were served with beer, and asked if they could take some "out to the girls in the car." Refused this, they went for "the girls," and returned with guns.

Three men attacked Arthur Reckling, 28, last night after he had escorted a young woman home, held him on the floor of his own automobile while they drove several blocks, and robbed him of $29 and his car.

GRAND RAPIDS FIRMS REPORT TRADE GAINS

Grand Rapids, Mich.—(CP)—Five Grand Rapids manufacturing concerns today reported that increased orders during recent weeks have resulted in accelerated production and the factories now are operating at from 80 to 100 per cent capacity.

The concerns which make furniture, metal products and knitted goods, reported that the number of men employed now is practically the same as a year ago and considerable in excess of the number working during the summer months.

A fortnight ago Japanese dispatches from Formosa announced the proposed subjugation of Aborigines which had persisted for a quarter century finally was completed. Therefore, military contingents remaining in the last two danger spots in interior mountain districts were about to be withdrawn.

Subjugation evidently was less conclusive than Japanese administration believed, for at least 1,500 braves of the savage Tayal head hunting tribes again are on the war path.

The Tayal folk occupy a mountainous area between Mount Morris and Mount Sylvia, parts of which still are unexplored as a recent one of the few remaining strongholds of savage society on the globe.

Japanese military effort to subjugate Formosan Aborigines was begun in 1905 and has continued until today, despite occasional Japanese official announcements of its successful completion.

MONTANA SHERIFF KILLED BY THREE BANK BANDITS

Harrison, Mont.—(CP)—Sheriff Frank Mabel was killed by robbers who looted the Harrison State bank of between $2,000 and $2,500 last night.

Two of the trio of robbers escaped on foot after exchanging shots with half a dozen officers who had surrounded the bank. It tip that there would be a robbery. They were being sought by a posse in the brush near here today. One of the men was believed to be wounded.

LABOR PARTY ISSUES BID TO LIBERALS

Advocates Reform Favored by Liberals—Parliament Hears King George

London (CP)—The MacDonald government in today's speech from the throne at the opening of parliament, made a definite bid for its retention in office by advocating electoral reform long demanded by the Liberal party which holds the balance of power.

King George, recovered from his long illness, convened parliament for his winter session with all the pageantry customary for the occasion and read the speech from the throne.

International relations, India, unemployment, electoral reform and laws relating to trade disputes and trade unions were the high spots touched upon by his majesty in the speech by which the laborite government has now outlined its program.

While the King's speech, which is written and composed for him by Mr. MacDonald and his ministers, merely mentions that an electoral reform measure will include the Liberal proportional representation scheme. Such a scheme would give the representation of the commons far in excess of their present membership, which is limited by reason of three-cornered constituency races in which, although the Liberals have a large vote, they usually are behind either Conservatives or Laborites, or both.

KING'S ADDRESS
King George's message follows: "My lords and members of the house of commons: It has given me much pleasure to receive my ministers on the dominions and representatives of India who are attending the Imperial conference. I watch with deep interest the progress of their labors, the satisfactory result of which I shall confidently await."

"I hope soon to welcome representatives of the princes and people of India who are about to join with members of all parties in both houses of parliament to consider the

FORMOSA SAVAGES RISE AGAINST JAPS

Unconfirmed Reports Say 190 Japanese Massacred by Aborigines

Tokio (CP)—A strong detachment of mountain artillery and a signal corps unit left Taihoku, Formosa, tonight to reinforce a Japanese expedition of six hundred soldiers and policemen attempting to quell an aborigine uprising in central Formosa. Unconfirmed dispatches from Taihoku to the Osaka Asahi asserted 190 Japanese and several peaceable Formosans perished at Musha.

The Japanese expedition attacked Aborigine positions today and were expected to occupy Musha early tomorrow. Until then the fate of Japanese at Musha Monday cannot be learned.

A fortnight ago Japanese dispatches from Formosa announced the proposed subjugation of Aborigines which had persisted for a quarter century finally was completed. Therefore, military contingents remaining in the last two danger spots in interior mountain districts were about to be withdrawn.

Subjugation evidently was less conclusive than Japanese administration believed, for at least 1,500 braves of the savage Tayal head hunting tribes again are on the war path.

BISHOP DIES AS HE WATCHES OPENING OF BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London (CP)—The Rev. Ernest Harold Pearce, bishop of Worcester, died today in the midst of ceremonies at the opening of parliament.

The bishop, a spectator, was in the crowd outside of the house of lords when suddenly taken ill. He was removed to Westminster hospital and on his arrival there was found to be dead.

The bishop, who was 65, was widely known as a scholar and preacher. He was assistant chaplain general during the war years and was chaplain to the king 1913-1919. He was the author of several books on church history.

Royal Yacht Rides Safely Through Gale

Boris and Giovanna Out of Touch With World for Several Hours

Athens, Greece (CP)—The Bulgarian royal yacht Car Ferdinand, with the royal newlows, Zar Boris and his queen, Giovanna, aboard, appeared at noon today to have won a battle with a violent gale which made their crossing of the Adriatic from Brindisi most difficult and dangerous.

After hours during which, because of atmospheric interference, the yacht was out of touch with the world, she was off "stars" at the entrance to the gulf of Corinth, and expected to pass through the Corinth canal shortly after 3 o'clock p. m. Some anxiety had been felt for the ship, both because of absence of reports from her and as a consequence of violence of the storm, which drove many small boats to shelter.

It was regarded as certain here that Boris and Giovanna, who were married Saturday at Assisi, Italy, and left Brindisi Sunday for Varna, Bulgarian Black sea port, have had a very rough voyage thus far.

SHARE PRICES HIGHER; EXPLOSION YEAR AGO

New York (CP)—Share prices crept moderately higher on the New York Stock exchange today, as trading moved pacidly along at the rate of about 2,500,000 shares a day, a welcome contrast to the 16,410,000 share explosion of Tuesday a year ago.

On the last Tuesday of October, last year, all trading records were broken, as the market went through its most violent contortion of the 1929 crash. The turnover of stock on that day was double anything since, and it saw the culmination of the most violent two-day crash in share price history. The price index of 90 shares dropped more than 40 points in 48 hours.

This drastic deflation came upon the heels of a 19,000,000-share day on Oct. 23, and left Wall Street stunned, for veteran traders had proclaimed the crash of the preceding Thursday as a record which should stand for years.

SAYS BLIND PERSONS "DUMPED" ON COUNTY

Milwaukee (CP)—Supervisor Lawrence J. Zimmerman charged before a county board committee yesterday that relief and welfare agencies are "dumping" blind persons on Milwaukee—so that they may receive pensions here and at the same time live in institutions for the blind.

"Blind persons from out of the state and from other counties are being sent to Milwaukee to live in institutions and after one year's residence they apply for a blind pension from the county," Zimmerman said. "It is unfair. Pensions are boosting our taxes without limit."

His charge followed an opinion from the city attorney that Dorothy Burke, who came from Janesville a year ago, was eligible for a pension.

LIPTON TO ENTER CUP RACE 2 YEARS FROM NOW

London (CP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, entraining today for Southampton to take the Leviathan for America, stated that he had determined to have another Shamrock ready in two years to race for the America's cup. It will be one he said, that "will make the Americans sit up."

"Am I going to contest for the America's cup next year?" said Sir Thomas. "I don't think so, unless I have a boat like the Americans have," he laughed, "but the following year I'll have a Shamrock ready that will make the Americans sit up."

SAYS KELLEY COULD PROVE THEM FALSE

President Sees Charges as "Attempt to Charge Odious Oil Scandals"

DENOUNCES PUBLICITY
Declares Agencies Behind Kelley Made No Inquiry Regarding Facts

Washington (CP)—President Hoover today denounced as an attempt to fasten an odious oil scandal upon his administration the charges by Ralph S. Kelley, former head of the Denver field force of the department of interior that oil companies were obtaining illegally valuable oil shale lands from the government.

Kelley, in Mr. Hoover's opinion, could himself have established the falsity of his charges by reference to his own records. Instead of $3,000,000 acres of oil titles worth millions of dollars being approved by this administration, the president said, there have been only 43,000 acres of titles granted and these could be bought for a few dollars an acre.

Of the 43,000 acres, the president said, 20,000 had been approved by Kelley himself.

The president said a proper inquiry and sound criticism by the press was a safeguard of good government, but in this instance the newspaper circulating Kelley's story, which he did not name, had gone further and apparently had made no effort to substantiate Kelley's charges.

HITS KELLEY TACTICS
Mr. Kelley pointed out that Kelley was in Washington for six weeks in 1929 and during that time made no reference to the charges to his superiors. Simultaneously, the president added, Kelley was negotiating for the sale of these charges to a rival political party and even then held them up for some weeks so they might be launched in the middle of the political campaign.

When charges unsupported by evidence reflecting upon the honesty of a man of the character of Secretary Wilbur have been made, the president said, they should do more damage to those who make them than to the man attacked.

Kelley first made his charges a month ago today in a statement to the press. At the same time, he announced his resignation after more than 25 years service in the west.

Secretary Wilbur refused to accept the resignation and suspended Kelley pending an investigation which he asked the justice department to make.

Attorney General Mitchell on Monday reported Kelley's charges to be unsubstantiated.

President Hoover, in a formal statement, said: "The department of justice has now published the result of its examination into the sensational charges made by Ralph S. Kelley, employee of the land office, the Secretary Wilbur and other officials of the department of interior had been guilty of dishonesty and misfeasance in adjudication of title claims to oil shale lands running into hundreds of thousands of acres and into losses to the government of scores of millions of dollars. It is an attempt to charge odious oil scandals to this administration."

POINTS TO FACTS
"The facts are that out of 3,000,000 acres of government holdings of such lands the whole matter boils down to the fact that this administration has approved oil title claims for some 43,000 acres arising under the mineral law prior to 1920. Under my orders no leases or titles have been passed under the new law. Of these old claims Kelley himself approved about 20,000 acres. The

Fear Communists In Control On New Area In China

NO RESPONSE FROM REGION TO MESSAGES

13 Foreign Missionaries in Danger if Kanchow Has Been Captured

Hongkong —(P)— Fear that Kiangsi province Communists who have occupied the city of Kian since Oct. 5, have invaded the southern part of the province was felt here today when efforts to communicate with Kanchow by wireless failed.

The local government station's calls to Kanchow went unanswered, leading to the belief the roads had been cut off by the Communists, which is within the walls of the city. Kanchow is a city of 50,000 population, poorly defended with only 1,000 troops forming the garrison. The city is four days march from Kian. At the latter city recently red leaders indicated to Bishop Magnani and Father de Jennis, Catholic missionaries, that they planned to invade southern Kiangsi. The two missionaries took this information to Kiangsi, Kiangsi, where they were released by the bandits to obtain ransom for 14 other missionaries held as hostages.

There are 13 foreign missionaries at Kanchow. Six are American Catholics, five British and two German Protestants. All the Americans are priests of the German order. Bishop O'Shea of Germantown, Pa., heads the Catholic group.

A message from Shichow, northern Kiangtung province railroad center, today stated the American priests, Fathers John McLaughlin of Kanchow, and Edward Yang of Jamestown, N. Y., who were stationed at Mananfu, Kiangsi, left that city Oct. 9, crossed the Kiangtung border and were heading for Canton.

PROVINCE OVERTURN
Kiangsi province was fast becoming the center of China's Communist movement. Virtually the entire province was overrun with peasant class reds while Communist constituted the provincial government, functioning almost every district.

The principal red stronghold was reported situated northeast of Kanchow on a plateau fifty miles square and approached only by a narrow pass between high precipices. The entrance was said to be well guarded.

Modern guns render the area virtually impregnable. The plateau is reported rich in cultivated lands, indicating the reds could hold out for many months if besieged.

At Tungku, 100 miles eastward, is the alleged Communist military academy, where red leaders are trained in modern warfare.

The "big three" of the Communist movement now dominating China are all in Kiangsi province at present. They are said to be Chu Teh, a German educated, cultured military expert; Mao Chen Tung, a French-speaking propagandist; and Fan Teh Hual, who is known as "the blood-thirstiest man in China" as the result of his numerous barbarous, wholesale slayings.

Peng is reported frequently to resort to indiscriminate killings following upon the capture of some new locality, thereby seeking to establish profound respect and authority.

Last June, after his capture of a community of 80,000 in southern Kiangsi, Peng, opposed by the townspeople, was said to have ordered the wholesale slaying of men, women and children, the butchery lasting the day long. Thousands were reported to have been killed.

REPORT 100 SLAIN
Hankow —(P)— Communists were reported today to have captured Nanchow, Hubei province, where they killed 100 Chinese. The fate of two American missionaries, one man and one woman, stationed at Nanchow, was not learned.

Two Chinese gunboats, seeking to break the grip of Communist shore batteries, which have been harassing domestic and foreign shipping along the Yangtze river, have begun an anti-red cruise above this city.

One gunboat shelled a red battery near Yochow, Hunan province then attacked another bandit stronghold near Kienli, Hubei. Chinese naval authorities here said neither engagement was decisive, but efforts would be continued to rid the river of this menace.

PERSONAL INCOMES SHOW BIG DECLINE

Individual Tax Reports Reveal Drop of Nearly 133 Million in U. S.

Washington —(P)— Shrinkage of personal incomes accounted almost entirely for the nearly $150,000,000 decrease in income tax collections for the first nine months of 1930.

A treasury analysis of the collections so far this year showed collections from individual returns were $122,872,000 below those for the first nine months of 1929, while corporate taxes declined only $15,314,000. The same symptom was emphasized in the returns from New York state, the largest contributing district, which showed a decrease of $48,850,000 from last year, of which only $4,280,000 was accounted for by corporate taxes. The total for the period was $95,012,418.

In spite of the total shrinkage 12 districts showed increases in total collections. These were Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Kansas, Nevada, South Dakota, Washington and Alaska, and portions of New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Increases in individual collections, however, were shown in only five districts: Connecticut, Delaware, South Dakota, Washington and the Eleventh Ohio district.

DAUGHTER OF LATE PRESIDENT HARRISON DIES IN CONNECTICUT

Washington —(P)— Relatives here this morning announced receipt of word that Mrs. James Robert McKee, daughter of President Benjamin Harrison, died early today at her home, Berkeley lodge in Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. McKee was Miss Mary Scott Harrison, only daughter of the former president and his first wife, Caroline Scott Harrison. She had been ill since the middle of February when she underwent an operation in New York.

Mrs. McKee is survived by her husband; a brother, Major Russell B. Harrison of Indianapolis; a daughter, Mrs. Mary McKee Reisinger of Greenwich, and a son, Benjamin Harrison McKee, of Paris. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Russell B. Harrison is now in Washington.

For many years she was a prominent figure in charity and club circles in New York and Indianapolis. Before her marriage she was known as one of the belles in Washington society. With her children she stayed at the White House for the greater part of her father's regime as president, and was mistress of the mansion during her mother's illness and after her death.

She was the cause of a storm of criticism before her mother's illness by inspiring the first dance to be held in the executive mansion. At that time such frivolous entertainment was considered by many too undignified for the presidential home.

Mrs. McKee probably will be buried in Indianapolis.

REDS BLAME FRANCE IN DUMPING FIGHT

Editorial in Moscow Paper Says France Center of Anti-Soviet Drives

Moscow —(P)— Pravda, Communist newspaper, in an editorial today accused France of responsibility for an anti-dumping campaign which followed Russia's recent heavy shipments of wheat to foreign ports.

The newspaper said France is the center of all anti-Soviet machinations, where the program is "directed toward creating an anti-Soviet bloc of all countries bordering on Soviet Russia from the Baltic to the Black sea. The editorial further declares that French diplomats are working with the French general staff and that the chiefs of the latter are the actual leaders of the armed power.

Poland and Rumania. French diplomacy, Pravda charges, has used the league of nations as a center of anti-Soviet schemes.

The "aboring masses of the Soviet union have approved the decision of the government to retaliate against countries which attempt to obstruct trade with Russia, the newspaper asserts, and have expressed readiness to use all their efforts to strengthen the defense of the Soviet union and attempted intervention by international imperialism."

That fear of the Soviet outside also are giving aid to counter revolutionaries in Russia, is another charge contained in the editorial, which concludes that "in the face of all of these activities, the laboring masses will still more decisively lead the advance of Socialism along the entire front."

HIGHWAY 114 ROAD JOB NEARING COMPLETION

Construction work on Highway 10 and 114 between the Lake and Sherwood is almost completed, according to officials of the Koepple Bros. Construction company.

The road has been opened to traffic for about six miles between the Lake and a half mile west of Sherwood. Construction crews now are paving the road between the farm south of Sherwood and through the village. It is expected the work will be finished by next week.

A Buick sedan, owned by Dr. J. M. Donovan, Neenah, stolen from a parking lot at Hotel Northern on the night of Oct. 15, was recovered by police at Oshkosh yesterday, according to word received by Appleton police. The machine had been abandoned by the thief and it was not damaged. It was turned over to its owner.

STATE COMMISSION PUTS APPROVAL ON REDUCTION IN RATES

New System to Go into Effect Here Jan. 1, 1931, Report States

The Wisconsin railroad commission has approved the application for revision of water rates and on Jan. 1, 1931 the rate reduction will go into effect. Application was made Sept. 8.

The new rate provides for a charge of 18 cents for every 100 cubic feet up to the 1,000 cubic foot limit, according to Arthur Dimick, assistant secretary of the water commission.

There will be charge of 17 cents per 100 cubic feet up to the 3,000 cubic foot limit; 15 cents for every 100 cubic feet to the 6,000 cubic feet limit; 12 cents per 100 cubic feet up to the 40,000 limit; 5 cents to the 450,000 cubic foot limit, and 24 cents to the 500,000 cubic foot limit, Mr. Dimick stated.

According to the old system there was a charge of 22 cents per 100 cubic feet up to the first 500 cubic feet and a charge of 21 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 500 and similar reductions as the consumption increased to higher limits.

Bishop Ill In Hospital At Capital

Washington —(P)— Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, is undergoing treatment at a local hospital for an acute attack of neuritis and inflammatory arthritis.

The churchman's condition is complicated also by other nervous disorder brought on in considerable measure, attending physicians believe, by the pressure of difficulties which have surrounded him in recent months. One or two months of rest and hospital treatment will be required to restore him to health.

The attack of arthritis is a recurrence of an ailment from which he has suffered in the past. It was to ease the pain this caused him that the bishop carried a crutch during the stormy sessions of the senate lobby committee last winter. On it he stumbled from the committee room one day when he refused to answer the senators' questions. However, Dr. D. Lynn Sexton, in charge of his case said today the arthritis was not a chronic affliction and would yield to treatment.

Bishop Cannon has been under special strain since his recent return from Brazil. He hurried back to this country to meet charges filed against him within the church by four ministers. He will defend himself against these later if they are made the basis of a church trial.

Within the last few weeks legal steps have been taken against one of his sons, R. M. Cannon of California, in connection with financial difficulties. This, the bishop charged, was one of a series of attempts to persecute him and his family.

Soon thereafter the bishop announced he was filing a suit for $5,000,000 damages against William Randolph Hearst, alleging libel through the publication in some Hearst newspapers of stories dealing with his recent marriage and other matters.

SUPPORT PRESIDENT, IS WILBUR'S PLEA

Secretary Tells Radio Audience This Is Time for "Team Play"

Washington —(P)— Election of a Republican congress to cooperate with President Hoover was urged by Secretary Wilbur in a radio campaign address last night on the plea that this is the time for "team play."

"We want to start our forward march again with the least loss and in the shortest time," he said. "Just now we are electing members of a board of directors so to speak, to join with the president in doing what government can do for us. The pressing question before us is whether we will choose men and women who will back the captain who inevitably must navigate our ship of state for the next two years through the troubled waters before us. Is it wise to risk a crew who may mutiny?"

"Two years from now," Wilbur added, "we can shift captain and crew if it seems wise, but if we must not commit the folly of defeating ourselves by paralyzing our leader."

The interior secretary said President Hoover was the "outstanding living expert in handling human difficulties in the mass."

"If we were to seek the world over for that man most competent to help us in our present situation we would find him in the White House," he said.

"The test I ask you to put to yourself when you vote for a senator or congressman is this: Will he support President Hoover in every effort to carry our country through the difficult years ahead or will he block the game? Which do you want, guided progress or increasing confusion?"

WILDCAT-RAMBLER GAME TO BE HELD AT DYCHE STADIUM

Big Ten Committee Turns Thumbs Down on Soldier Field Proposal

Chicago —(P)— The Northwestern Notre Dame football game will be played at Dyché stadium Nov. 22 and not at Soldier field.

The faculty committee of the Western conference decided that relaxation of Big Ten rules to allow the transfer of the game from its original setting at Dyché stadium to Soldier field for the benefit of Chicago charitable organizations, might serve as a precedent to further inroads on the rules. Hence the request for permission for the Wildcats to meet the Ramblers at Soldier field was turned down.

Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus of Indiana, in announcing the refusal said: "I am not in a position to express the considerations that led to the negative votes, but I am sure that there was no lack of appreciation of the merit of the cause to which the extra proceeds were to go. The faculty representatives were no doubt influenced not so much by the request as by the effect it might have upon the consideration of other proposals involving the waiving of other conference rules."

The "other proposals" were said to be the agitation now on in Milwaukee and Detroit for charity games played at the close of the Big Ten season between the University of Wisconsin and Marquette and the University of Michigan and Detroit.

READJUST RATES PAID TO AIR MAIL CONCERNS

Washington —(P)— Earl B. Wadsworth, superintendent of air mails, said today that the new contracts going into effect Nov. 1 basing rates on space-mileage instead of poundage, would give a decreased return to the National and Boeing Air Transport companies and increase the rate pay of Colonial Western airways, Western Air Express and Continental Air line.

The Boeing company, covering the Chicago-San Francisco route, will be the biggest loser—about $75,000 a month—under the new Wadsworth calling for the new rate basis, Wadsworth said. Its rate pay, he added, would drop from $1.53 to $1.20 per mile, reducing its monthly mail pay income from about $844,000 to $209,785.

The National Air Transport, operating from New York to Chicago, he said, would lose about $6,000 a month, its contracts dropping from approximately $122,000 to $116,000 a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Greim of the Ideal Photo shop have returned from the national convention of Master Photographers held at St. Louis, Mo., last week. Mr. Greim is a director of the state organization of master photographers.

One of the most interesting features of the convention was the discussion of new methods in flashlight photography. Modern apparatus for flashlight pictures which eliminates all smoke and danger of fire was introduced. The new method will be used at the Ideal shop in the future.

Five hundred master photographers, including 25 from Wisconsin, attended the meeting.

Observing Butcher Helps Catch Chicken Thieves

Because Charles Hopfensperger, meat market on W. College-ave, is observant, and because he immediately reported his suspicions to the police department, the Waupaca authorities are holding two chicken thieves, who are believed to be responsible for a series of thefts in Waupaca over the last three months.

The two men are Shirley and Niel Doughty, town of Weyauwega. The brothers pleaded guilty in justice court at Waupaca yesterday and are being held there pending their arraignment in circuit court for sentence.

Just a week ago the pair appeared at Hopfensperger's market and offered to sell 26 chickens. The deal was completed but Mr. Hopfensperger noticed that from the manner in which the chickens were killed that the men had never killed poultry before. He also noticed that there were some pullets among the dead birds and he knew that farmers ordinarily do not kill pullets at this time of the year. The two men were nervous and Mr. Hopfensperger noticed they resembled each other enough to be brothers. He also noticed the two cartons in which the birds were delivered bore the name of a Weyauwega store.

Carefully securing a description of the pair and their car and obtaining the license number, Mr. Hopfensperger recorded the details and submitted them to Police Chief George T. Prim.

Chief Prim in turn notified Sheriff Arthur Steenbeck at Waupaca, who started an investigation which led to the arrest of the two brothers.

Association Opposes Attempt To Raise Lake Level

EFFORT JUST NEW SCHEME, TRIPP HOLDS

Success of Proposal Would Damage Riparian Land Owners, He Claims

The Association for Relief of High Water at Oshkosh, through its president, Alan H. Tripp, has voiced its opposition to any proposal to raise the level of Lake Winnebago in spring to a point 15 inches above the crest of the government dam at Menasha.

This opposition was expressed by Mr. Tripp when he learned that Mayor F. W. Fargo of Kaukauna had invited mayors and city officials of Fox River valley cities to meet at Kaukauna next Thursday night to formally protest against opening the gates in the dam too early in the spring.

Mayor Fargo believes that, because the gates are opened too early in spring, the level of Lake Winnebago is reduced to a point where there is no water available later in the summer to flush the Fox river when sanitary conditions demand such flushing.

During the last summer people living in cities along the Fox river were subjected to a stench which came from the river as a result of stagnant water. In addition, thousands of fish died. Sportsmen as well as people who live along the river voiced their protest against the odor and the killing of the fish in wholesale quantities and as a result Mayor Fargo has called this meeting as a means of protesting against opening the gates in the dam too early.

WOULD FLUSH RIVER
It is the belief of Mayor Fargo and other city officials along the river that flushing the river during the summer will carry away the stagnant water, thus eliminating the odors and the unnecessary killing of the fish.

Mr. Tripp says his organization is ready to "fight to the last ditch" to retain the agreement with the government that the water level in Lake Winnebago shall not be raised more than 15 inches above the crest of the dam gates will be maintained.

The proposal, Mr. Tripp claims, while said to be fathered by "mayors" of Fox River valley cities, is only a ruse to raise the height of the water in the lake, with resultant damage to riparian land owners and such cities as Oshkosh and Fond Du Lac.

"This talk about opening sluices to prevent an odor of stagnant water is a subterfuge," Mr. Tripp said. "The only interest the federal government has in our waters is that of navigation and since gates in the dam can be opened any time the water level is raised, it is to flush water out of the river to get rid of dead fish or stagnant water, providing such act does not stop or hinder navigation."

"Navigation continues on our lake when the water drops to six inches below the crest of the dam and opening the sluices to clear out the lower river only takes a few hours and can be used to prevent unhealthy and unsanitary conditions even if it does hinder our navigation for a short period, as our health comes first."

CALLS IT 'SCHEME'
According to Mr. Tripp the news of the meeting at Kaukauna is "only another scheme to increase our lake level." He declares the Association for Relief of High Water has had the sluice gates opened on an industry to clean the river below Appleton and that it will be glad to cooperate with any mayor desiring such a flushing. He says, however, that he will not tolerate any higher level than the agreed 15 inches above the crest of the dam.

He says the association also will insist that the water in Lake Winnebago be drawn down to six inches below the crest of the Menasha dam at the opening of navigation each spring, to make a reservoir for spring water.

TAKE TESTIMONY IN COMPENSATION CASE

Testimony was taken in one case arising under the Workmen's Compensation act at a hearing before Votya Wabatz, examiner for the Wisconsin Industrial commission, at the courthouse this morning. This was the first session of a three-day group of hearings which will be conducted by Mr. Wabatz. He is being assisted by Miss Adele Stork, reporter. Two other cases scheduled for hearing Tuesday morning were postponed. H. W. Gass, 212 S. Badger, ave., asks compensation from the S. C. Shannon company for an injury to his leg which he claimed was sustained while he was working for the firm.

The cases deferred were John Van Den Elden versus the C. R. Meyer and Sons company, and William Tommensen versus the Farm Equipment company.

PLAN DISCUSSION OF ORDINANCE ON SMOKE

The smoke ordinance will be discussed at a meeting at city hall at 7:30 Tuesday evening. Members of the ordinance committee and an advisory board from the chamber of commerce, made up of L. L. Alsted, Harry Sylvester, A. K. Ellis, A. C. Ramsey and William Commons, will discuss the present proposed ordinance and offer suggestions for its revision before it is passed by the common council.

WINNEBAGO AND OUTAGAMIE ROAD GROUPS TO MEET

The Winnebago and Outagamie county highway committees will hold a joint meeting Wednesday noon at the village of Dale to discuss plans for the improvement of the road between Dale and Oshkosh. This route is now a county trunk, T, in Outagamie county and the Winnebago county group proposes to name the connecting road in its county T also. The roads would be materially improved and would provide a shorter route between Appleton and Oshkosh, via Trunk T.

CLUBS PLEDGE AID TO CHAMBER GROUP

Plan to Cooperate With Committee in Arranging Forum Meetings

Appleton Luncheon clubs including Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions will cooperate with the chamber of commerce forum committee in arranging a series of meetings and programs starting the first of the year, according to reports submitted by club representatives at a meeting of the committee in the chamber offices Monday afternoon.

The clubs will cooperate also in securing a large attendance at each of the meetings and will abandon their own meetings in behalf of the forum sessions.

One session is to be held each month, the first to be held in conjunction with the Lions club in the Conway hotel on a Monday in January, 1931. The following month the group will meet with the Kiwanis club and in March a session will be held with the Rotary club. All of the meetings will be held in the afternoon, preceded by a luncheon.

The report of the Lions club was submitted by B. J. Rohan, chairman of the forum committee, while reports of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs were given by Daniel Steinberg and Herbert Satterstrom.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"SCORPIO"
If October 29th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:45 a. m., from 2 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Physical dangers are pictured on this date through mechanical means, such as motors, factory machinery or elevators. "Health" may fall below normal. Business and finances will stand still. Romantic adventures in your favor.

Children born on this October 29th will be imperious, domineering, forceful and quarrelsome. They will be inclined to "know it all," and much of their conceit will have to be taken out of them by the world. They will have alert minds, and will not be afraid of work. They will seek a public life.

Feminism and worry debar you from much happiness and your chances for success in life. Your mind magnifies all your clouds and minimizes all your sunbeams; ignores many of your blessings, but counts over imaginary ills and evils. You wear yourself weary in self-contemplation, self-pity and self-distrust. You need to fight against moral defeatism. You need to exert your will, to substitute resolution for irresolution, to decide for action, to choose for inaction, purpose for vacillation, and high spirits for low spirits.

You are somewhat of a dreamer, and you live on ideals and possibilities rather than the actualities of life. You seldom set the ball rolling by your own efforts. You are quick tempered and alive to slights and anything which affects your sensibilities. You often get "underneath the skin" of others through your caustic and sarcastic remarks. You love to probe the weak points of others, although it would be better to rub them with diplomatic savvy.

You are not brilliantly intellectual, but you have enough ability, and clever enough hands to excel in some industry. If you can be content to fit into your proper place in life, you will be happy and far more successful, than trying to do something for which you are not fitted. True happiness is not born of circumstance—it is a state of being found in the Kingdom of Spirit that is within us.

NO CLEWS FOUND IN BURGLARY OF STORE

No further evidence has been uncovered by police in the burglary of The Fashion Shop, 305 W. College, ave., Saturday night or Sunday morning. Dresses, lingerie and coats valued at approximately $1,000, $750 in cash was taken. They carried the safe away from the store, forced the combination, removed the cash, and then dumped it safe out in the ditch at the intersection of Spencer and Highway 26. Entrance to the store was gained by breaking the glass in the window of a rear door and removing the barrier. The burglary was discovered when farmers found the safe. Sergeant-Detectives John Davel and Matthew McGinnis are working on the case.

FARMERS TO LEAVE MUCH OF CABBAGE UNHARVESTED

Price Not Enough to Cover Cost of Harvesting, Growers Complain

BY W. F. WINSEY
Shiocton—Men and women are in the fields about here cutting, loading, and storing late cabbage or hauling a few loads to market. As the price of early cabbage has been too low to cover the cost of hauling with no demand, 50 per cent of the early crop is still in the fields where it will remain as feed for cattle. Some of the growers already have turned their cattle into the early fields or are feeding early cabbage to their cattle in the farm yards.

As the price of late cabbage is considerably below the cost of hauling to market and only the small heads ranging from one to three pounds are accepted, the haulings are light and most growers are storing their late crops. Growers with loads of the kind of late cabbage were turned back home from the Shiocton market on Saturday because their cabbage ranged in weight from four to six pounds per head.

Owing to frost damage, one grower lost 600 barrels of cauliflower, another 400 hundred, and all other growers the part of their crop in the fields at the time of the frost.

On account of their experience this year and for several past, the cabbage growers associations of Outagamie and Winnebago will probably take a hand in the acreage of early and late cabbage to be planted next spring and in the price-fixing game. The growers have discovered from exceedingly expensive experience that with a large acreage of early cabbage in the field that cannot be stored and that is in danger of frost injury, the dealers can get the cabbage at their own prices from a wide choice and leave the balance in the fields to rot.

The cabbage growers of Brown and Outagamie counties operating through their existing associations can make their industry profitable and a reliable source of farm income as soon as they set about it. On the other hand, if they permit others interested only in the wages and the profit that can be squeezed out of farmers to determine the cabbage acreage each year and set the prices when the crops are ready for delivery, the cabbage industry as a source of profit for farmers is doomed in this section of the state.

The prices of cabbage are now $4 per ton for early cabbage and $5 and $6 for the late variety with practically no demand. Consumers are paying as much for kraut and cabbage as they paid at one time during the year, and the cabbage crop is reported short.

If growers enjoy working all summer raising cabbage and being deprived of their wages when their crops are ready for the market, they will continue to use all their headwork and energy in raising crops of cabbage, but if they have been pinched sufficiently, they will probably spend only a part of their time in the raising of cabbage and the other part of it in marketing collectively before an acre of cabbage is planted in the spring.

UNCERTAIN WEATHER
PREDICTED WEDNESDAY
Uncertain weather is forecast for this vicinity for the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman. Similar predictions have been issued throughout the middlewest for the next 24 hours.

Skiing in this vicinity will be cloudy and the mercury will drop for a drop, he says. Showers with possible snow have been predicted for the upper and lower lake regions.

Winds are shifting in the north and northwest, a good indication that cooler weather is on its way. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 45 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 55 degrees.

LITTLE CONTAGION REPORTED IN CITY

Only two cases of chicken pox and one of tuberculosis were reported to the health department last week. The quarantines for one case of infantile paralysis and one of diphtheria were lifted, leaving only chicken pox and whooping cough on the contagion slate.

LIMIT HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS TO FEW NECESSITIES

Committee Decides to Do Only Necessary Work During 1931

In an effort to hold taxes to a minimum the county highway committee Monday afternoon decided to hold its road improvement budget for 1931 to a point which will cover only the absolutely essential necessities. Only two projects, which would be termed as major, were considered by the board. These are the construction of a new bridge on County Trunk S in the town of Maine at Leeman, and the improvement of E. South River-st in Appleton.

The former project is a needed repair and the latter was promised Appleton a year ago after Lawrence college had constructed its new gymnasium on that street.

A full discussion of these two projects was made by the committee but no definite action was taken. The committee will definitely decide the issue soon, however, because it must present its recommendations to the county board meeting Nov. 11.

J. N. Hayes, maintenance engineer with the state highway commission, was at the meeting Monday and discussed with the committee plans for spending the county's funds to be received as a portion of the gasoline tax. This matter also was left for further consideration.

CHEESEMAKERS AND KIWANIS TO MEET

Cheese factory beautification will be discussed at the meeting of Kiwanis club and county cheese factory owners tonight at Conway hotel. The club will award prizes to first, second and third place winners in a contest last summer.

The committee which conducted the contest and which is arranging for tonight's meeting includes C. C. Nelson, Charles Rohl, W. C. Schuber, Herbert Satterstrom, and A. G. Oosterhaus, chairman.

ELECTRICAL TESTS SHOWN TO STUDENTS

Glen L. Morris demonstrated a number of electrical experiments to the senior high school student body Monday morning. This was the fourth lecture number of the year.

Mr. Morris carried with him what is considered the smallest wireless set in the world. With this he showed how ships and airplanes are controlled by an unseen hand, and the terrible possibilities of such when used as means of warfare.

An electrical storm was produced on the stage. Mr. Morris explained that the smallest portion of the force used in this experiment, if passed through the human body, would prove instantly fatal.

He demonstrated how the invisible power is directed to the target, how much warfare might use the concentration of radiated energy as a means of annihilation of the impurities of war.

Mr. Morris caused a quarter of a thousand of volts to pass through the human body, enough force to melt and weld steel in the hands of two persons. During these demonstrations, he explained these steps clearly and concisely.

OPEN ROAD PAVED NEWLY TO TRAFFIC

The newly paved section of Highway 26 in the village of Hortonville opened to traffic this week, according to Frank Wabatz, county highway commissioner. RUTH M'CORMICK CLAIMS SHE SPENT $10,842 IN RACE

Lists That Amount as Outlay After Primary in Illinois Campaign

Washington (AP)—Expenditures of $10,842 were reported today by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican, in her post-primary race for the senate in Illinois.

Mrs. McCormick, whose campaign expenditures in the primary have been under investigation by the Nye committee, stated in her report today that she made no accounting to the senate for the cost of "private investigators" employed by her to shadow the senate investigators.

She listed contributions of $12,052, which included $10,000 from Robert R. McCormick, $1,000 from J. M. Patterson and $1,000 from Mrs. G. F. Porter.

Of the expenditures, $6,000 was given to the Illinois Republican State central committee. Mrs. McCormick said in her report today that she made no accounting to the senate for the cost of "private investigators" employed by her to shadow the senate investigators.

"While it was intimated," Mrs. McCormick said in her report, "by Chairman Gerald P. Nye during the course of the hearings held at Chicago Sept. 15, by the special committee of the senate investigating campaign expenditures of senatorial candidates, that I should account for my expenditures for private investigators hired by me during the summer of 1930, I am not reporting such expenditures herein, because of the fact, and upon the opinion of counsel, that such expenditures were not made in aid or support of my candidacy for election, and, therefore, are not items required to be reported by the terms of the Federal Corrupt Practices act, 1925."

future constitutional position of India. "My intention is to inaugurate this conference and I earnestly trust that in conclusion of its proceedings may be found agreed and wise solutions of those important questions upon which it will be called to deliberate."

"My relations with the foreign powers continue to be friendly. I was very glad to entrust my son, the duke of Gloucester with the duty of representing me at the coronation of the emperor of Ethiopia."

"My government took an active part in proceedings of the assembly of the league of nations in September last. General agreement was reached upon the treaty of financial assistance to states which may be victims of aggression which recently was signed at Geneva. Application of this treaty is conditional upon the coming into force of a general disarmament convention which I trust will shortly be concluded."

"I follow with grave concern and sympathy continuance of heavy unemployment among so many of my people. Economic depression unfortunately continues to dominate the markets of the world and the accompanying restriction of international trade is felt with particular severity in those industries which are especially dependent on export."

"My government will persist in its efforts to develop and extend home, imperial and foreign trade and to help in measures which will lead to greater efficiency in industry."

EMPLOYMENT PROPOSALS
"Proposals will be laid before you for promotion of increased settlement and employment on the land, and of large-scale farming operations, and for acquisition and improvement of agricultural land, and in need of reconditioning, and for organization of producers for marketing purposes."

"I propose immediately to set up a commission to inquire into the entire question of unemployment in the future, and in particular to investigate the causes of unemployment, and to make proposals for its relief. The commission will be asked to present interim reports on the most pressing questions and, if required, legislation based upon them will be introduced. In the meantime a measure to make a further financial provision for an unemployment fund will be laid before you."

"My ministers propose to introduce legislation to secure for the community its share in the site value of land."

"Measures will be submitted to you for raising of the age of compulsory school attendance, for amending the laws relating to trade disputes and trade unions and for setting up of a consumers' council."

"A measure of electoral reform will be submitted to you."

"Bills will also be laid before you to enable ratification of the Washington convention and of the international convention for safety of life at sea, and for establishment of a new statutory authority to deal with passenger traffic in London."

"I pray that under the blessing of God the outcome of your deliberations may advance the happiness and well being of my people."

President Hits Kelley For Oil Scandal Attempt

courts ordered about 16,000 acres and about 7,000 acres came upon an appeal to the heads of the department for decision, only part of which Kelley opposed on technical grounds. Furthermore these oil shale lands have little present value and instead of being worth billions can be bought from private owners for a few dollars per acre.

"Attorney General Mitchell and Assistant Attorney General, Seth Hardison, after painstaking investigation of the records upon every statement and innuendo made by Kelley, pronounced that every one of his charges has been proved baseless, without merit or substance. They concluded that the government's interests in these lands has been vigorously protected and it is indicated that there has even been over-claiming on the part of private oil claims as witnesses orders of the courts in favor of individuals overruling the decisions of the department."

FOR "PROPER INQUIRY"
"There are some phases of this incident of which it is desirable in public interest that I should comment. I may say at once that proper inquiry or proper criticism by the press is a safeguard of good government."

"But this investigation shows more than this. Kelley had been called to Washington last summer to discuss with his immediate superiors questions of organization in the office of which he had charge. He made no suggestions of these charges to his superior officers during a period of over six weeks in Washington, but during this time was negotiating for the sale of his fabrications to a journal identified with the opposition political party, and they were launched in the middle of a political campaign."

"No single inquiry has been or was made by the agencies behind Kelley at the department of the interior or any other governmental department or as the facts before their publication. The charges, when first published, were in general and demagogic terms, but were instantly denied by Secretary Wilbur and proof offered which would indicate their falsity. Kelley was asked and refused to place any particulars before his superior officers and refused even to cooperate with the department of justice for an independent investigation of these charges."

COULD PROVE FALSITY
"Furthermore, Kelley himself could, by the merest inquiry in his own department, have determined the falsity of his own statements, as witness his assertions of titles granted which were never granted, of hundreds of thousands of acres of land alienated which never was alienated, of papers destroyed which never were destroyed, of billions of dollars which never existed, and scores of other reckless statements."

"Yet despite all these opportunities to test the truth, these agencies have persisted in broadcasting them for the past six weeks by every device of publicity, and Kelley has received payment for them. Such inquiry by him or by the broadcasters of these statements would not doubt have destroyed the political or the sale value of these stories."

"As a piece of journalism it may well be that the newspaper involved was misled. It certainly does not represent the practice of better American journalism. As a piece of politics it is certainly far below the ideals of political partisanship held by substantial men in that party."

MUST PRESERVE HONESTY
"There is, however, another phase. I am interested to have a duty in the preserving and upbuilding of honest public service. I hope that the American people realize that

GERMAN BARITONE APPEARS IN CITY THURSDAY NIGHT

Henrich Schlusnus Opens Community Artist Series This Week

Heinrich Schlusnus, leading baritone of the Berlin state opera, will appear in recital at Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday evening as the first number of the Community Artist series.

Schlusnus, the baritone with a tenor top, a master of the almost forgotten style of Bel Canto, the possessor of a limitless repertoire and of a magnificent personality, is known throughout Europe as "the young Enescu". He was born in Braubach on the Rhine. His studies were begun at Frankfurt, under Louis Bachner, an American teacher active in Berlin, but were interrupted by the war. Young Schlusnus was sent to the front where he remained until a severe wound in 1915 ended his active service. Returning to music, he was soon offered an engagement at the Nuernberg opera, where he remained for two years. In 1917 Count Huelken Haessler had him called to the Royal Court Opera in Berlin.

Since that time Schlusnus has been Berlin's leading baritone. Specializing in the Italian repertoire, his repertoire ranges from Beethoven to the moderns, and he sings with equal ease and effect in Italian, French, German and English.

Seats are still available for the concert. They can be purchased at Lawrence Conservatory or at the Bellinger drugstore.

BLAMES POLITICS FOR SLOW TRADE RECOVERY

Chicago — (AP) — Political conditions in the view of James S. Kemper, president of the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance companies, are the greatest deterrents to rapid recovery from the present business depression. He spoke today at the opening session of the organization's annual convention.

"There has been entirely too much experimenting in government," Kemper said. "Increasingly, it seems, we are accumulating evidence that prosperity cannot be insured by legislation and yet we have before us the prospect of an increasing number of attempts to cure our ills with paternalistic legislation."

At the same time, Kemper presented the results of a survey of the 1930 business of 25 representative mutual fire companies, which he said places mutual insurance in the category of depression-proof businesses. These companies reported $510,830,000 increase of insurance in force since Jan. 1. For the first nine months of 1930, they showed an income of $34,500,000, an increase of $1,300,000 over the first nine months of 1929.

"KEEP THE HOME FIRES BURNING"

Something now and then has been published about the manufacturers of Wisconsin running their plants beyond their present needs or demands in order to keep employment at a high stage but with the resultant effect of filling warehouses with manufactured goods that cannot presently be moved.

The extent to which this has been going on is now made evident by the consolidated bank report just issued from Madison showing the resources of all state and mutual savings banks and trust companies, and while this report does not include the national banks it is effective evidence of the fine position taken by the manufacturers of Wisconsin in the respect mentioned. The report shows that commercial deposits in these banks have decreased about five millions between June 30th and September 24th of this year, good evidence that the manufacturers are operating beyond their present needs in order to keep men at work for the bank statement shows the steady outflow of their deposits in wages without a corresponding inflow from sales.

Most plants have continued this process without making any announcement concerning their efforts. We do not think they should take the position of the shrinking violet in this regard because their attitude is not only far-reaching in its substantial assistance to the different communities of the state but patriotic as well.

A rather strange thing that comes to light in this regard is the inequity in our present taxation laws that actually penalizes the manufacturer for this work of public good, for he is forced to pay an increased tax in the form of a personal property tax upon the goods in his warehouse that he did not wish to have there and manufactured and put there only to be of assistance to those who needed work. It tends to point out again that if we have, as we must have, an income tax upon profits made in any business, it is unjust to tax at the same time the personal property that happens to be on hand and which ultimately produces the tax paid through an income tax return. Perhaps the present generation has forgotten that when the income tax law was introduced in Wisconsin it was upon the express statement and understanding that it would make taxes on personal property used in producing income unnecessary and that for some years persons and corporations were only required to pay taxes on personal property when they paid no income taxes. It is not a question of whether the Wisconsin manufacturer can stand the load but whether the load is a just one. The needs of the state, it is true, are paramount. If the budget makers are clear that the state government cannot get along without the many millions it spends, the money must be found somewhere. The manufacturers would be much more content were they satisfied, which they generally are not, that the state is expending the money through necessity and with wisdom.

GERMANY'S NEW PLANE

Germany, always engaged in some weird scientific experiment, has a new "stratosphere" airplane which is expected to fly 600 miles an hour. It may be said that if any aircraft is likely to compel peace, such a plane will do it. There could be no sure defense against a fleet of such hornets, flitting from country to country at almost unimaginable speed, appearing for but a moment from behind the clouds to sting and flee.

This plane is intended to fly at a height of more than six miles. Such speed would be possible only in highly rarefied air. Both motor and passengers will have to be supplied with oxygen artificially. That can be managed, though such dependence will make flights more precarious than at lower levels, in ordinary air.

Six hundred miles an hour would take a plane 14,400 miles in 24 hours. That would enable it to circle the earth in one day at about the latitude of southern Alaska, Hudson Bay and Leningrad. The pilot flying westward on such a trip would be a Joshua; for him the sun would stand still.

ANOTHER BANK "ISSUE"

Both candidates for governor are spending some time in warning the people of what they consider the menace of chain banking. This is all right from an educational standpoint but we understand that no political party and no faction in Wisconsin upholds chain banking or that form of chain banking which has prevailed here during the past year. It would be a peculiar legislator indeed who could find an excuse for voting against any reasonable measure designed to prevent further extension of chain banking in this state and the liquidation of the organization already built up. While it is not unlikely that members of the legislature will differ as to the means to be employed, it is worthy of note that the candidates for governor do not themselves discuss those means but content themselves with saying that the "menace" must be halted. The people will expect from the next legislature, regardless of party success at the polls, firm and constructive laws to accomplish the desired and expressed result.

But the banks in Wisconsin probably see another menace for already this year we have had twenty-four bank robberies with very little in the way of apprehension of the bandits, and, worse still, they are becoming more frequent than ever.

Candor suggests the statement that the background of neither candidate for governor would indicate indifference or negligence when confronted by a moral issue of such importance. The difficulty is that Mr. LaFollette has taken a position against a state police or detective force and has failed himself to suggest any other plan or method to stop these depredations. He attacked Mr. Kohler for the plan the latter advocated but failed to undertake the sometimes arduous task of formulating a plan of his own. His silence upon this important matter is dismaying even to his own friends because of the likelihood that it will be construed as indifference.

Wisconsin has a reputation of a high order to maintain in regard to the enforcement of law and order, the punishment and segregation of criminals and the protection of the mass of the people. Wisconsin jurors have been sympathetic but not maudlin, demanding good evidence, as is right, before consenting to a conviction but too clearheaded to be confused by fictitious alibis and the other flood of false testimony usually prepared in advance of the criminal act by the bandit or his associates. Wisconsin judges have been equally sensible in the conduct of trials and the imposition of sentences. Governor Kohler, during his term, made a practice of refusing to commute sentences or pardon these professional criminals. The only weak link is in the apprehension of the outlaws. But this weakness happens to be just as important a factor as any other in the prevention of crime.

The success of outlawry in the state, these raids upon unprotected communities, does not stop with the immediate damage in each instance, but is a continual inducement to others to go and do likewise. If it continues to grow at its present pace it will amount to an admission that the state government with all the means and power at its disposal is unable to cope with a few bands of marauding outlaws.

FOUNDING OF HARVARD

On Oct. 28, 1636, Harvard University, the oldest institution of higher education in the United States, was founded at Cambridge, a suburb of Boston, Mass.

The university had its inception in the desire of the early settlers to educate the "English and Indian youth in knowledge of godliness." While organization of the institution was in progress, Rev. John Harvard, a minister bequeathed to the new school 400 pounds and a library of 320 volumes. In recognition of this gift, which in those days was a large one, the new institution was named Harvard College.

A medical school was established as part of the university in 1782 and a law school in 1817. For almost 200 years after the founding of the college, its course of study remained in essential elements unchanged. But when Charles E. Eliot became president in 1869, the course received significant enlargement.

Eliot, whose term of office lasted 40 years, was responsible for the large growth in the number of students, in the endowment and in the university plant. Under him Harvard made many educational experiments and "exerted a wide influence in the development of American history."

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author
 Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HONEST FOLK MUST NOW BEWARE OF THE HEALERS ON THE AIR.

The health commissioner of the city of New York reports that his department found many individuals representing themselves as physicians and giving advice on medical matters over the radio were not licensed physicians at all. These numerous nostrums were urged upon listeners, various so called "health foods," compounds purporting to contain roughage, and other patent preparations were being fraudulently promoted as scientific products made under the direction of physicians. Virtually all of the healing faddists, charlatans and nostrum mongers who of recent years have been harried from respectable family newspapers and even some of the magazines, have taken to the radio, where, particularly in the smaller stations, they have found a new haven of activity.

The danger of this, the health commissioner points out, is that such peddlers of humbug now gain direct access to the family circle. Their manner is so clever and their language so smooth that it is difficult for the listener to tell whether the advice is genuine or whether the plausible chap is trying to sell some thing which for your health's sake you should have not.

New York city's health department has done the people of the whole country a great service by attacking this menace of radio quackery. The health commissioner, Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, has shown admirable executive ability and courage in his endeavor to clean up the air. If I have ever criticized his official conduct or utterances I now freely forgive him for his minor errors and sins and wish him longer official life than the ordinary lot of the unfortunate who from election to election hold the job of health guardian of the politically exploited city of New York.

Here are a few things Dr. Wynne said in a recent radio talk, which all of us should remember:

"Persons who are ill with a chronic disease are always eager—sometimes pathetically eager—to be convinced that they can be cured, and cured speedily. Consequently they convince themselves, often against the evidence of their eyes and other senses, that they are being benefited."

"The experienced quack understands this human quirk, and hence is eager and willing to offer free trials of his minor or special pills and powders to a sick person who is trying any cure offered him. The hope and enthusiasm thus aroused may help him temporarily. An honest and ethical physician will never promise to guarantee cures; for this reason he is hardly on a competitive basis with the quack who is willing to guarantee anything and promise everything."

"It is well to remember that the quack, who has an appliance or remedy to sell, is willing to prescribe on the diagnosis of the patient and without a thorough examination. He is not interested in your health; he is interested in your money."

"When in doubt as to the reliability of the health advice heard over the radio, write to your state department of health."

"I am perhaps as familiar with the subject as any health department representative or physician can be, and I find it difficult enough, in some instances, to tell whether the health or medical stuff I hear over the radio is genuine or humbug. If it is as hard as that for me, no wonder the medicine-men are taunting the air."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Ah, Ah, Naughtily.

Please tell me where I can get up to the minute reading matter on artificial pneumothorax and thoracotomy methods of treating tuberculosis.

Answer.—I don't know and I wouldn't tell you if I did know. I am sure it is unwise for laymen to delve in such highly technical medical literature. If you have tuberculosis the wise course is to have a good doctor and let him decide about every such question that may arise.

Books For Nurses.
 Please name some books which will improve my work. I do practical nursing. (Mrs. G. D.)

Answer.—Florence Dakin's "Simplified Nursing" published, I think, by Lippincott, Philadelphia, is a good book. Dr. F. E. Richards' "Simplifying Motherhood" published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, and Norma Selbert's "Home Care of the Sick" published by W. B. Saunders Co., Philadelphia, are helpful. Ask any of these publishers for lists of books for practical nurses.

The Best Specialist.
 Please give me the name and address of the best eye specialist in New York City. (C. E. L.)

Answer.—I cannot name the best doctor or specialist. I am glad to give the name and address of a good doctor or specialist if I know of one, by private letter. The only cure for catarrh is operation.

Mitral Regurgitation.
 Please tell me what "mitral regurgitation" is. I was rejected from military service on this account, also for life insurance. Is it curable? Is it dangerous? (T. H. M.)

Answer.—It means a leakage or loss of pressure from backflow of some blood thru the valve between the left auricle and left ventricle of the heart at each beat. It is not in itself curable or dangerous. Proper treatment and care will enable you to compensate for it; and reasonable conduct of your life with due regard for your handicap will enable you to attain perhaps greater age than the ordinary individual. A woman 102 years old says she was never very wild in her youth because she was not very well or strong and had to take care of herself. That's the way one with a mitral regurgitation should live.

The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

THE man up by the cork tree said, "Well, sonny, you go right ahead and do a little stripping. It is fun when you know how. It will not take you long to learn to give the bark the proper turn and take it right off of the tree. I'll let you try it now."

So Clowdy did as he was told. Of bits of bark he grabbed a hold and pulled as hard as he could pull. The other stood nearby and watched him at his new found task. Soon Clowdy heard wee Scouty ask, "If you're as strong as you contend, what makes you puff and sigh?"

"Aw, anyone gets tired out. You don't know what it's all about," snapped Clowdy. "If you think that you can do it, come ahead." This made brave Scouty laugh and he replied, "Oh, no sir, not for me! I know that I can do it, but I'll just watch you, instead."

Soon Clowdy said, "Of what good use is all the cork they're prying loose?" "That is a silly question," answered Clowdy, with a grin. "It's used for corks in bottles. You still have to learn a thing or two. Why, you've seen cork of some sort in most every place we've been."

The cork man then said, "Come with me. Another sight you'll shortly see. I have a load of cork nearby and when a big ship sails, I'll take this cork to other lands." The tinymites jumped and clapped their hands. "Oh, good! Maybe we can ride atop one of the bales."

"Why, sure you can," the man replied. "There's lots of room for you to ride." And so they climbed on top of the cork and shouted, "Well, here we go." The cork man gave the bale a slap and loudly shouted, "Giddyap!" It was a pretty heavy load and so they traveled slow.

(The Tinymites meet the donkey man in the next story.) (Copyright, 1930, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Peter Goebel Gerry—that tall, slender, quiet and shy man from Rhode Island—is out for the United States senate again.

The democrats have named him to oppose Sen. Jesse H. Metcalf, the senate's expert yachtsman, in the November elections.

News that Gerry is to run for the senate again—he has already served two terms—caused Social Washington to perk up her head a bit. First, because Peter Goebel Gerry is one of THE GERRYS. And second, because it means the possible return to the capital of Mrs. Gerry one of the most colorful women in Washington prior to her husband's defeat in 1923.

That phrase "one of the Gerrys" is not without meaning. The Blue Book of congress—that imposing volume wherein are listed all members of congress from the beginning of the republic to the present—proves this.

LONG LINE
 In the Blue Book, Peter Goebel Gerry writes that he is the great-grandson of Elbridge Gerry. The colorful woman in Washington politics in his day. He was elected vice president as a democrat on the ticket with James Madison in 1812, was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and was a member of the early congresses.

Just above Peter's biography in this volume is another Gerry—the grandson of Elbridge Gerry. This Gerry was elected as a democrat to the 1st congress from the state of Maine.

The present Gerry has followed in the footsteps of his fathers. He has been a member of the house for one term, has served two terms as United States senator, and is now out for this third.

He has stood high in the councils of his party. During the presidential election of 1928, when he was defeated by Senator Herbert for the senate, he served as chairman of the democratic executive committee in the Smith headquarters in New York.

SHY, BUT SEEN
 Gerry as a United States senator was seen rarely, preferring to remain in the background. When he did speak it was in a quiet almost shy manner.

He is a newspaper publisher, and correspondents for his paper in Washington often find it necessary to go to others to find out what the "boss" was doing so reluctant was he to talk.

In Mrs. Gerry, the former Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt, he has a comrade and champion in all things concerning his political career. While he was in the senate, she took the keenest interest in public affairs. Her position as a leader of the feminine congressional contingent in the capital was unquestioned.

Gerry was an accomplished polo player in his younger days. Now 51, he still is an enthusiastic hunter.

Even if Wickersham's proposal to flog racketeers is carried into effect, the chances are great some will win immunity because of rheumatism or lumbago.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSCOCK

New York—The Riverside church, the Rockefeller built was a landmark before its opening.

The fire that made a great blazing torch of its tower scaffolding when it was half-way finished and caused a million dollars damage first drew the public's attention to its lofty height.

Now it is finished and awaiting dedication, a suitable skyscraper edifice for its pastor, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. It is patterned after the celebrated Chartres cathedral of France, but it rises to a new and stately eminence on upper Riverside drive.

The carved heads of the scientists including Darwin and Einstein, in the ornamentation and the absence of this word Baptist—its denomination from the church name are in harmony with the liberal views of Dr. Fosdick.

An even more liberal church is that of Dr. John Haynes Holmes on lower Park avenue. It is undenominational and is called merely the Community church. Different sects are represented in its membership and Dr. Holmes estimates that 50 per cent of his congregation is Jewish.

Dr. Fosdick was born in Buffalo, Dr. Holmes comes from Philadelphia. The latter left the Unitarian faith in 1919 to become an independent pastor.

His church is locally famous for its discussions of new ideas, its rostrum frequently occupied by lecturers on sociological problems. A recent lecturer was Dr. Will Durant, the popularizer of philosophy, who talked on the situation in Gandhi's India.

MANHATTAN NOTES

When George Palmer Putnam transferred his editorial activities to the Brewer and Warren offices, he walked into a publishing house devoted to modern trimmings in their ultra manifestations. The first thing he did was to purge his private office of its trick furnishings and replace the danks of French modernists with his own collection of autographed photographs of explorers, in whose literary works he specializes.

A friend of Putnam is George S. Chappell, author of the Professor Traprock travesties on explorers' books. Chappell is an author only by avocation. His profession is architecture.

With winter coming on, singers have to button up their overcoats. Which is another way of saying that Reinald Werrenrath wears rubber overshoes and Challepin winds a long scarf around his celebrated throat.

Penthouse dirt comes from a cloud of dust and soft coal smoke that perpetually hangs over Manhattan. A smoke-trap on top of an Eighth avenue hotel daily sucks five tons of dust and dirt out of the surrounding atmosphere.

TINY BITS

Harpo Marx, the dumb zany, is a vicious croquet player. And paints pictures.

The blue book of club members of New York does not admit the membership of the three actors' clubs, the Players, the Friars and the Lambs.

The first mistake in Manhattan society was imported by a young man in 1815 on his return from abroad. The record says it "met with disfavor."

And a French woman, writing in Le Messenger, new Franco-American magazine, shuddered when she first saw Christmas wreaths in New York windows. In France wreaths hung in windows signify death within.

HOLDERS OF RAIL SECURITIES FEEL MORE OPTIMISTIC

Reports for September Indicate Smaller Decrease in Net Earnings

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1930, By Cons. Press.
Wall Street, New York. —(CPA)—
Some encouragement to holders of railroad securities is offered in the net earnings for the month of September which, in a number of cases, are larger than those for the same period last year. This reflects the growing ability of the carriers to offset the continuing large decreases in gross revenues by a better control of their operating expenses.

Two roads making their reports Monday and previously having shown large monthly losses in net operating income, namely Atchafalaya and Great Northern, were able to indicate net gains. Both, however, have heavy shrinkage in the item applicable to dividends covering the nine months period to Sept. 30.

It is the general expectation that in the December quarter this control of operating expenses, together with comparisons with the period last year when railroad revenues started their decline, the net results of all of the American roads will be relatively the best for 1930, in spite of the fact that gross earnings are still declining and railroad car loadings this month have been smaller, not only than in 1929, but in the same period of 1928.

DECREASES DROP

Last spring and well into the summer, the decrease in net earnings for the class 1 roads ran to as high as a monthly figure as 33 per cent. In the month of August it was 27.21 per cent, with gross receipts off about 24 per cent. The roads that have so far reported for September show an average decrease considerably less than that for the month previous. From present indications the final figures will be between 15 and 18 per cent.

In addition to the reports of the Atchafalaya and Great Northern, roads whose statements attracted most attention were the Pennsylvania railroad, New Haven, Baltimore and Ohio, Burlington, Chicago and North Western, Illinois Central, and Louisville and Nashville.

The Pennsylvania had a decrease in gross of $13,395,000, of which the greater part was in freight revenues. This loss of 20 per cent in all revenues compared with a decrease of 37 per cent in net operating income. The New Haven had a September net of $1,329,233 compared with $2,270,683 last year.

TO COVER REQUIREMENTS

In nine months this road earned $4.89 a share on its common stock against $7.24 last year. At this rate it will more than cover its annual dividend requirements of $6.80 a share. Baltimore and Ohio lost 20 per cent in gross, but only 15 per cent in net. Preliminary figures for 1930 show that about $8 a share will be earned for the 12 months on Baltimore and Ohio common, which now pays $7 a share. The Burlington had a gross decrease of over 12 per cent, but a net operating income loss of about 20 per cent. Chicago and North Western came within $227,000 of earning the same net operating income as last year, but the low net of the previous eight months has brought earnings on the common to Sept. 30 down to $2.50 a share as against $7.36 a share in the nine months last year.

Illinois Central, whose 7 per cent stock recently sold under par for the first time in many years, had about the average net loss for September of all the roads named, around 15 per cent. Its decrease for nine months in net was 22 per cent. Louisville and Nashville, reflecting the loss of traffic in the south, showed a reduction of 23 per cent in September net and of 35 per cent for the nine months.

All of these roads have been adding heavily to their profit and loss surplus account the past five years. It is expected that they will regard this as a wise policy and due to their shareholders to continue present dividends, even if not fully earned this year, into 1931.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

UPTURN IN VALUES LIKELY FOR WHEAT WITH LESS SURPLUS

Present Low Price Expected to Result in Curtailed Production

By FRANK I. WELLER

Washington —(AP)—The wheat market may be one of the first units in the American economic structure to recover from the general depression in commodity values. It is almost conclusive that current low prices will curtail production, particularly in the United States. Market stocks are heavy now, but the short corn crop is putting a large amount of wheat into livestock feed.

In the meantime, human consumption of wheat is expected to continue in normal volume. The logical result would bring material reduction in surplus.

While such a situation would strengthen wheat as a cash crop, it would not necessarily mean a return to the relatively high prices farmers have come to believe necessary to profitable production. James C. Stone, vice president of the federal farm board, says price trends for the next few years will continue downward.

The anticipated adjustment of supply and demand, however, would make a steady market for a certain amount of wheat at a certain price level. In all probability that level would still further limit production to low cost areas.

It is the view of the farm board member that high prices are not always necessary to profit in wheat production. If a farmer can cut his cost of production and sell at a lower price, he can make as much money in wheat as if his cost remained the same and prices went higher.

In the competition to produce low cost when the future may see the crop concentrated in those regions peculiarly favored for wheat and adapted to the use of big scale machinery.

It is believed costs can be reduced still further where labor saving devices can be operated on large units. With the possible exception of Canada and Argentina, the United States is making greater strides than any other country in lowering the cost of mass production of farm commodities.

FALLS COMPANY AFTER REPARATION ON RATES

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—The Falls Manufacturing Company has filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission seeking reparation from a number of carriers for alleged excessive freight rates charged on shipments from Esmont, Va., to Oconto Falls, Wis.

Shipments of furnace linings and soapstone were made and the railroads charged at a rate of 63 cents per 100 pounds. The complaining company asserts that the rate should have been 44 cents per 100 pounds and asks reparation equal to the difference between the improper rate which should have been charged.

Says

"Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of LUCKY STRIKE ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions."

Here is the complete statement as authorized by

JAMES A. FARLEY

President, General Builders Supply Corp.; Chairman, New York State Athletic Commission; Chairman, New York State Democratic Committee

"I am certain that without the use of modern, scientific methods the skyscrapers for which our country is so justly proud would never have been possible. I am equally convinced that your modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of your LUCKY STRIKE Tobaccos ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions and that it is responsible for the skyscraping sales of your famous brand."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows — that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

SUE slipped into her bath robe and slippers and hurried quietly down the stairway as the telephone bell rang again. The house had a queer, ghastly appearance in the early morning. There was no sunshine to strike gold lights here and there, no mellowness of lamplight and candle glow. The chairs and tables were just furniture. Sue took down the receiver, wondering if Sarah was worse.

"Sue?" It wasn't the cool crisp voice of a trained nurse that spoke her name. It wasn't the low, deep voice of William Burton. The warmth and vibrancy of the tone could belong only to Jack.

"Yes," Sue answered, her heart skipping a beat under the blue bath robe. "Aren't you early?"

"Am I?" he laughed lightly. "But I couldn't wait, I had to hear your voice, I had to know that you meant what you said last night..."

After he had hung up, Sue stood by the telephone, smiling to herself, humming under her breath. After all, she and Jack would have a world of their own. Her father, her mother, Corrinne, Ted, Sarah—there as they were to her, weren't her life. Not now! When homes were built there were always just a man and a woman who loved each other, two who foresook the whole wide world for each other.

She met her own reflection in the glass that hung above the buffet. Her eyes were steady, deep, blue, mysterious; her red lips were parted, revealing a little heart-shaped face needed no other color, dusted across its velvet smoothness now.

Still singing under her breath she ran upstairs, drew water for her bath, and with the tune as an echo in her heart, she bathed and dressed and went upstairs to get breakfast.

When Jack stopped for her, as he had said he would, she slipped into the seat beside him, still with the same breathless glowing in her heart. She felt a little sorry for all the girls whom she saw standing on corners, waiting for cars. Girls who had to go to work alone. Yesterday she had belonged to them. Today she was different.

Even the office seemed gay and happier. The lift in her heart communicated itself to her voice and she fairly sparkled at the people who came in. She called the hospital and was told that Sarah was resting easier now, and was stronger. The crisis had passed. Whether she wanted to live or not, Sarah Slade was going to get well.

Sue found Jack's fraternity pins in her pocketbook and remembered that he had forgotten to ask for them when he had returned and she had forgotten to give them to him. It seemed like such a long time now, since he had written, asking her to stop at the jewelry store.

And the thought of the pins made her remember the emerald ring that Corrinne had pawned. Barbara was wearing it now. Sue knew that she would have a ring of her own. Somehow the emerald had never been hers. It had been a gorgeous ornament, with which she had played a part; that was all.

Jack reminded Sue that they were due at the court at nine o'clock, and still wrapped in the magic that is called happiness. Sue went. Even the court scene would be fun... if Jack were there.

Jack reached in his pocket for the card which the man in white whom he had bumped had given him the night before. He gave a long, low whistle of surprise as he glanced at it.

WE WOMEN by Betty Brainerd

RECIPE FOR IMPROVING IN-LAWS

"Dear Betty Brainerd: Will you please tell me how to get on with my in-laws?"

"The other day I overheard an old lady saying that in all her life she had never 'had words' with a single one of her husband's relatives. I am to be married next month and am so anxious to get on with my husband's family. Some of them I like and some of them I don't. I never chose as friends, not because they aren't all right but because they're so unconvivial."

"We have no tastes in common, nothing really to talk about. But I suppose I'll have to see a good deal of them all so I may as well learn to do it gracefully. But how?"

The best recipe for getting along with in-laws is compounded of three things.

Church Pageant Features Social Week At Capital

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—The East Room of the White House. There the exciting years between 1799 and 1861.

Mary Todd Lincoln: "And did you really hang the wash in this room?"

Abigail Adams: "To be sure, I did. It had to go somewhere."

Martha Washington: "There wasn't even an East Room to hang things in when I went through here with Ned and George."

Mary Todd Lincoln: "What would Mr. Lincoln have said if I'd hung his clothes here?"

Mrs. John Quincy Adams: "Tell me, my dear, did the chimney fall this room with smoke when you were here?"

Mary Todd Lincoln: "La, no. The General Grant's eagle-droppings!"

"Listen to them. They don't know what trouble is. Think of having to choose between saving a new rose satin gown and an old picture of George Washington. That's real suffering."

And so they might have talked, if St. Margaret's Episcopal Church hadn't marshaled them into historical array and marched them correctly across the stage at the Willard Hotel Friday in 11 scenes, for its pageant, "The East Room."

ALL ARE THERE

They were all there, the great colorful, Washington, Jefferson, the Adamses, Van Buren, Buchanan, "Mr. Lincoln," and afterwards their ladies danced gaily about with the clothes of 1800 and 1861 mingling gracefully and dolly Madison in her rose gown of 1814, still the belle.

Miss Mary Elizabeth MacArthur, niece of General Douglas MacArthur, formerly of Wisconsin, the new Chief of Staff, took part in the pageant representing her own grandmother as a guest at President Lincoln's reception for the Prince of Wales, 1860. Wearing her grandmother's flowered and dainty gown, she was quite lovely.

It was one of a few "original" costumes seen during the evening.

Real Admiral Luke McNamee of Mt. Hope, Wis., was to have been one of the very distinguished floor committee, but he was transferred from Washington to the command of the fourth division of the battle fleet stationed in Pacific waters, and left the National Capital, October 18.

The company witnessing the pageant may be as well known in history years from now as the historic personages in the pageant. Two of the most interesting were Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, and "Dolly" Gann.

Dr. and Mrs. Dana G. Munro, formerly of Madison and Fond du Lac, are now in Wisconsin. They have been visiting in Fond du Lac during Dr. Munro's short leave of absence from the State Department before sailing for his new post as Minister to Haiti. Have You Heard —

Now this Christmas and good either with old-fashioned furnishings, or modern, is the fruit soft pillow.

The pillow itself is made of a soft green felt against which a spray of pears, peaches, plums or grapes made of black oil cloth are posed alluringly.

To make the pillow with grapes, you cut out enough small circles to make as large a bunch as you wish, a few leaves and then applique them on with just a few rough stitches in black silk thread. Each grape takes four stitches, each leaf a stitch to every point. The stems are back-stitches in the black silk.

Place the bunch of grapes or other fruit up at the right-hand corner, leaving the rest of the pillow unadorned. It makes an effective and decorative pillow for any couch or davenport, and, moreover, it makes a nice warm pillow to put your head on the cool night when reclining to the couch to read.

Louise Brown, formerly of Appleton and now Dean of Women at American University, for a delightful week-end of driving through the nearby Maryland Mountains. The foliage is turning now, and the greens, reds, and yellows on the slopes of South Mountain were lovely.

Miss Katherine Lenroot of Superior, Assistant Chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, left Washington Thursday afternoon for New York, where she attended the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Child Welfare League of America. She expected to return to the National Capital Monday night.

THE FAILING CHILD

When a child begins failing in school we are not to begin scolding him. That will mean two failures where there was but one.

All children love to succeed. When a child fails it is not because he did not wish to succeed. He did. He wanted to shine. When the bright boy answered the hard question and the teacher praised him, the failure wished with all his heart that he could stand in that other lad's place.

He coveted that wish of course. Perhaps he went home and told how he answered the question nobody else could answer and the teacher praised him and told him he would be President some day.

Perhaps he boasted wildly out in the playground of the great things he was going to do some day. Maybe he told how he was going to answer that question but he just thought he wouldn't show off like that big stuff Masteron.

Maybe he did nothing of the sort, but crept home by the back way to hide himself in the attic for a good cry. Maybe there he dreamed of the day when he would be the first and best in all the land. Dreamed until his anxious mother came looking for him, a tear stained failure.

Scolding won't help this. In order to help a child we must first find the cause of the failure. Take him back over the ground, after he has found his self-respect again, and in friendly fashion, help him to see where and why he failed. Help him strengthen his weak places, and send him out hopeful of better things. Encouragement is what he needs.

To strengthen a failing child one must be both discreet and wise. When his breaking point has been found, lead him to control the situation. Begin by easy steps, where he knows the answer right off, and slowly climb on from there he not hurry. Remember if he had been strong enough to go over the ground swiftly, he would have not failed. Take plenty of time. He must succeed and succeed until he has the confidence of the cock at sunrise. Then let him go along and see what he can do.

Meet a failing child with sympathy. Listen. Soothe him and comfort him without telling him he is what he is not, a success. But comfort him. Give him a little job that he can do well and praise him when he does it. Then build him up from there and he will carry on bravely.

There are children who are slow, children who are lazy, who are 'not interested, who cannot concentrate— you know the series well. All of them come under this head. None of them fail because they wish to do so. All of them need help. It is for the teacher and parent to study each failing child and help them where and when and how they may need help.

Marking a child, labelling him, is not helping him. It only goes to his trouble, clear away his errors, and arrange for his success. Then he will work willingly.

5-Day Week Is Favored By Raskob

of the United States an opportunity to vote on this great social experiment after a ten-year trial.

Together with the five-day week proposal, Raskob suggested the celebration of legal holidays on Monday to give three continuous recreation days. The shorter week, he maintained, would result "in sufficient savings to enable industry to pay the same wages for five days as are now paid for five and one-half days' work."

The increased leisure of workers and their families, he said, would increase their expenditures and thus the output of the industries. He suggested as a first step that the Democratic party work for adoption of the five-day week by the government and the states for their own employees. Legislation to declare every Saturday a holiday, to permit all banks to close if they wished, also was suggested.

REPUBLICAN BUREAU
Raskob took occasion also to deny a Republican charge that he had maintained a Democratic publicity bureau in Washington to "smear Hoover." He termed the accusation a "childish attempt" indicating the "irresponsibility of panic minds."

"No one ever heard me utter one unkind word about Mr. Hoover or the president of the United States," he said. "This does not mean that I or the Democratic party hesitate in offering a constructive criticism of the actions of Mr. Hoover and his administration."

In concluding the address Raskob asserted no country in the world was ever in as splendid position to go forward to a period of prosperity as the United States today.

"Everywhere has been thoroughly deflated and business is now turning upward," he said, "We will quickly leave depression behind and all be singing 'Happy Days are Here Again.'"

Furs, Velvets And Jewels Bedeck Society At Opera

New York —(AP)—Wrapped in luxurious furs and velvets, shimmering with jewels and decked with flowers, New York's four hundred gathered in the historic old Metropolitan Opera house last night to pay tribute to the opening of grand opera and the social season.

And as Verdi's opera "Aida" began to unfold with Maria Mueller singing the title role of the Ethiopian slave and Giovanni Martinelli appearing as Radames, they settled themselves in their boxes to see and to be seen.

Many an interesting fashion note was to be gleaned from the golden horseshoe where jewels and furs and beauty mingled in one colorful panorama. White was the outstanding color; jewels were worn in greater profusion than last year, and shoulder bouquets proved their return to vogue.

Mrs. William Goadby Loew appeared in a gown of grey tulle, embroidered in silver, with a diamond and emerald necklace and earrings. Her wrap was a sable cape.

Mrs. Ogen L. Mills was among those who appeared in white. Her gown was of satin, draped along simple lines and sweeping to her heels. About her shoulders she wore a throw-wrap of flame-colored velvet, while her coiffure was finished with a headress of diamonds.

A gown of crystals designed over a pale pink satin foundation was Mrs. H. E. Manville's selection for the evening. Her bandeau, necklace and earrings were of diamonds and over her shoulders she wore a long wrap of white gatyak, sweeping the length of her gown.

Mme. Gatti-Casazza, the bride of the metropolitan's impresario, was there to watch the ballet which she had directed and coached. She, too, wore white—a soft lustrous crepe, fitted to her figure and sweeping the floor by six inches in the back. A shaft of diamonds caught her coiffure at the back and her wrap was of ermine, collared with fox.

One of the most stunning ensembles was worn by Mrs. James Clews. The close fitting gown of white chiffon velvet was bordered with a five inch band of chinchilla that just missed the floor and her hip-length coat, designed on flaring lines was finished with the same fur.

There was Mrs. William May Wright in a coral chiffon frock embroidered in beads, worn with an ermine wrap; Kathleen Howard in a severe V-necked black velvet gown, ruby earrings and crimson crepe slippers; Mrs. Grover Whalen in a black velvet frock and ermine wrap, and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie in a Grecian gown of pink lace accented by a rope of pearls.

Among the throng was Mrs. Ripley, wearing wine colored lace, a ruby and diamond necklace and a chinchilla wrap, while Mrs. Robert Goelt appeared in a close-fitting gown of silver cloth and carried a pale pink ostrich fan.

Throughout the crowd promenaded the debutantes, long-skirted, short-coated, flower-shouldered. One of them stood out among the rest. She wore a sweeping white chiffon gown, a hip-length packet of sapphire velvet collared in white—and her chestnut curls were caught back with a narrow band of white ribbon that ended in a tiny bow on top of her head.

WINNECONNE MUST GET BRIDGE TENDER

Madison —(AP)—The city of Winnebago must employ a bridge tender and light the swing and lift bridge over the Wolf river on state highway 16, the attorney general has ruled.

In an opinion to Frank B. Keefe, district attorney of Winnebago county, the attorney general ruled that the statutes provide for maintenance of bridges in fourth class cities by the state highway commission. Removal of snow and erection of wind breaks constitutes maintenance but lighting and employment of a tender does not, the attorney general said.

BANKER EXPLAINS GROUP SYSTEM TO ROTARY MEMBERS

Organized Because of Economic Necessity, He Points Out

Special to Post-Crescent
New London.—The origin, aims, and methods of operating group banks was explained Monday noon at the Rotary club meeting at Elwood hotel by R. L. Stone, of the First National Bank, Milwaukee. He asserted that this type of banking started in Wisconsin not as a selfish medium or to gain control, but because of an economical necessity. At that time representatives of branch banking houses having headquarters in Minneapolis, Chicago, San Francisco and New York were in the state attempting to gain control of Wisconsin banks. Wisconsin bankers, therefore, desirous to protect their own industries from control of outside banking concerns, decided upon the group system, so that any local industry could get sufficient capital at their local bank without assistance from outside the state, he pointed out. The speaker said that any membership or partner to the group bank system as now is existence was voluntary and that any bank taken into the group would have no change in management as the group system will not provide managers. Their desire is primarily to maintain good will in the community. Group banks do not dictate or formulate the policies of the members, as their main interest is to provide sufficient capital to take care of the community needs, the speaker affirmed. To show that the system in operation is successful, he referred to the $500,000 loan negotiated through the group banks to the cheese industries. This loan was made in order to protect the industries from outside interest. No definite date has been set for the Rotary dinner at which community farmers will be guests. This dinner will be given, with an interesting dinner program at the Congregational church.

DR. G. W. BLANEY KNOWS THE HEALTH VALUE OF TONOMEL--READ WHAT HE SAYS:

Dr. Geo. W. Blaney, 5806 Merville Ave., Baltimore, Md. I have seen the remarkable action of Tonomel in correcting serious stomach conditions, and I know that sufferers will find health in Tonomel. Besides prescribing this wonder medicine to many of my patients—I have also taken Tonomel myself.

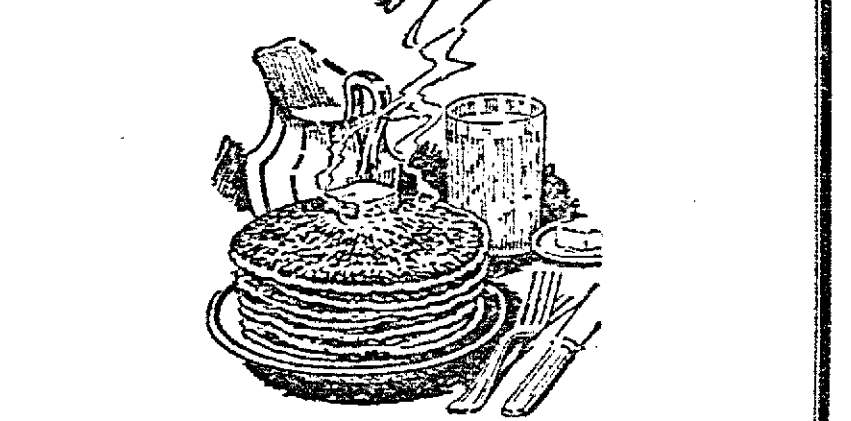

Many acute cases of constipation are due to inactive liver. This organ, one of the most important in the body, must be kept normally active and clean. A sluggish liver promptly displays symptoms—some of them are large, unsightly liver-spots, coated tongue, yellowed eyeballs, dizzy spells and blinding headaches. The least sign should be regarded as a warning and treated immediately.

Tonomel, because of its unparalleled tonic quality, soon brings the torpid liver back into its natural, active state. Plenty of exercise and wise diet help along the good work.

If the liver becomes deranged and refuses to function normally, the digestive system also gets out of order. The bile which the liver secretes is absolutely necessary to healthy digestion, and if this fluid is not provided, stomach trouble and constipation result. It is very unwise to allow a troubled condition of the liver to exist. Many serious results are induced by carelessness in this respect, and we cannot urge too strongly the immediate treatment of this ailment.

Lawrence Invades Ripon For Saturday's Grid Game

CRIMSON ELEVEN POWERFUL ENOUGH FOR BIG 4 GRIND

Recent Defeats Mean Nothing; Al Mangan Star Performing This Season

BY GORDON R. MCINTYRE

LAWRENCE college football team resumed practice Monday evening and prepared to meet Ripon college at the latter's homecoming celebration Saturday at Ripon.

When the Vikes took the field yesterday that expected to hear plenty from Coach Kotal about the flacco Saturday in the Carroll game but instead were greeted with silence—a silence that almost shrank what Kotal thought of the squad. And silence was the proper thing, for words had failed this Viking mentor.

On the afternoon of Sept. 26, Kotal had sent his squad against Marquette at Milwaukee, an admittedly superior team. The men were beaten 27 and 0 but they fought down to the last ditch, they took a mauling and they gave one, they talked back to the cocky Avalanche players and in general gave a fine account of themselves.

Then came the Wisconsin game and again the Vikes were a mighty good ball club rushing the Badgers off their feet for the entire first half and succumbing only to numbers in the second period.

The Hamline game showed the Vikes in another light but here it was figured the team was a bit too confident, took the game as a matter of fact and probably would map out of it against Carroll, the homecoming game and the one everyone wanted to win. But they didn't. Instead they took everything on the button and generally played a terrible game. It's no wonder Kotal couldn't say anything last evening.

Saturday afternoon the squad takes the field against Ripon and is in for a merry licking unless it comes to life and does things. The Crimson haven't been burning up any grids in the last couple weeks and have taken some terrible trimmings. But that's not saying they haven't a ball club when they get into Big Four competition and play before their homecoming crowd.

The psychological edge, resulting from homecoming going isn't forgotten at Ripon, the followers of the Vikings recall numerous times when Ripon, doped a loser, has risen to the heights at homecoming and crashed through with a victory.

Judging Ripon from recent scores, especially the Marquette score last week, is plain luck. The Crimson will run Lawrence ragged if Al Mangan ever gets underway. Last year Ripon had Red Martin who, because he was a veteran was given all the credit. This year the team has Al Bangen, every bit as fast as Martin and just as hard to stop.

Monday evening Coach Kotal shifted his backfield lineup around benching several past performers and trying out a couple new ones. "I don't lay all blame on the backs for last week's showing but he wants a more diversified attack and therefore is seeking a plunger who can batter an opposing line. Several members of the squad were used in the backfield but when it was all over the coach gave no intimation of what he thought of the workout.

HANLEY AFRAID WILDCATS WILL BE TOO CONFIDENT

Tury Oman, Injured Monday Night, Is Latest Wisconsin Casualty

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

Associated Press Sports Writer

HANLEY will send Northwestern at the peak of its power against Minnesota Saturday, but he is even more pessimistic than when he had a flock of cripples over which to worry.

"My boys have had it too easy," he said yesterday. "Without Bruder, Russell and Kent they run up points on Illinois and Ohio, and now, that Bruder and Russell are back, I'm afraid they will not take Minnesota seriously enough."

Hanley wasted no time in getting down to serious business for the battle at Minnesota Saturday—which will remove one more team from the Big Ten race. He had Russell at quarter, Bruder and Hanley at halves, and Rentner at fullback in a long drill on new plays yesterday, leaving Lefty Leach and Al Moore, both regulars while Bruder and Russell were out, at the head of a big list of reserve backs. The regular set, which averages about 183 pounds, looked good and gave promise of supplying the running attack that has been missing.

GOPHERS WORK HARD

Minnesota will have had two weeks of preparation for the game and undoubtedly will be immensely improved. Coach Fritz Crisler has been working hard on the offense that was just beginning to shape up when the Gophers defeated Indiana, 7 to 0, two weeks ago, and Minnesota will be primed to the limit to catch the Wildcats by surprise.

Purdue will get plenty of work on forward passes this week. Coach Noble Kizer was displeased with the Boilermakers passing against Wisconsin although it produced their touchdown. Michigan defeated Illinois by passing and Purdue will be out to do the same thing. The Illinois lined up yesterday with another altered backfield, with Munch playing quarter and Russell in Yanusuk's place at halfback. The latter is pretty certain to be in there Saturday, however, because of his running ability.

Wisconsin may go to Ohio State without Tury Oman, capable reserve fullback. The Badger player yesterday was kicked in the face in a scrimmage and was taken to the hospital. The regulars were rested yesterday but were due for a full sized workout today. Ohio, another team having two weeks in which to prepare for this week's task, has been working hard and quietly, and the battered Badgers may run into a big surprise.

Indiana took a thorough beating from Southern Methodist last Saturday, but when the squad landed in Bloomington yesterday, it was just in time to go through one of its longest sessions of the season. Unless Hughes, Dauer and Edmonds recover from injuries, the Hoosiers may have to face Notre Dame without an experienced punter. All were damaged last week and Pat Page immediately started searching for someone to fill in. The Irish first and second teams rested yesterday and were due for another off day today.

Chicago came out of the Mississippi game in poor shape. Wien and Tiope, Stag's starting ends, were missing from practice yesterday and may be out of the lineup against Princeton Saturday. Iowa yesterday speeded up preparation for its game with the University of Detroit, and Michigan, who was to play Saturday, delayed the opening of drills for Harvard until today.

ROCKNE DRILLS HIS 4TH, 5TH, 6TH TEAMS

South Bend, Ind.—(P)—Coach Knute Rockne is doing a little dealing in futures.

The Notre Dame football strategists yesterday gave his first and second eleven a day off, but bused himself with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth Irish elevens, the members of which probably will blossom out as regulars in a couple of years.

Boxers Yell Foul; Yale Takes Motion Pictures

NEW YORK—(P)—Football students had the problem "when is a touchdown not a touchdown" before them today as well as the growing speculation that all is not as well as it might be in the football relations of Yale and Army.

Officials at Yale announced yesterday after a review of motion pictures of Saturday's Army-Yale game that Tom Kilday, cadet halfback, had scored an illegal touchdown in putting Army in a position to gain a 7-0 lead. They claim that the picture showed Kilday, who was wearing a Yale uniform, running with the ball and being tackled by an Army player.

Yale officials said that they expected to do nothing about the situation and would accept the official decision giving Army the touchdown. It was pointed out, however, that rule 10, section one, says that "no player of the team in possession of the ball may help the runner except by interfering for him and there shall be no interlocked interference." A supplementary note adds that "pushing the runner or lifting runner from the ground by a team mate is an infraction of the rule." The penalty is loss of 15 yards.

While Army officials maintained silence, refusing quotations, supporters of the Cadets expressed wonder at the existence of motion pictures of the game and took little pains to hide the fact that there was a feeling on the Army side concerning the sportsmanship of the Eli rooters.

Yale mentions that the pictures also show the play on which Albie Booth, quarterback ace, was smothered by Cadets and bruised so that he was forced to retire from the game on the first play in which he participated. The Yale version is that the pictures show Booth had been stopped after intercepting a long Army pass and that the referee had signalled the play at an end when Army players, picking up speed suddenly, leaped into the mass on the ground, among that mass, Booth.

DOWNED LEGALLY

Army spokesmen comment bitterly on the scenes that followed. They insist Booth was downed hard but legally and the cadet corps, cheering his gallantry, was booed by the Eli section. Later, when an Army man was injured, Yale cheered again and this time the Cadets think the Eli players passed and that the referee had signalled the play at an end when Army players, picking up speed suddenly, leaped into the mass on the ground, among that mass, Booth.

While the game was hard fought and at times bitter, it is felt among the wisest minds that any ill-feeling that might have cropped out will die away with the excitement of the day. Head Linesman A. C. Tyler said in Providence, R. I., that there was no question that the ball was over the goal.

"I was standing on the line," he said. "Kilday dove at the mass of players, hit in mid-air just short of the line and then moved ahead far enough so the ball went over. I was not in a position to tell whether he received any assistance or whether he went ahead by a drive from his own legs."

FRANK BRUEN QUILTS AS GARDEN MANAGER

Damon Runyon, Jimmy Johnston, George Blake May Succeed Him

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(P)—Covetous eyes all along cauliflower row are yearning today at the manager's post in Madison Square Garden, the driver's seat of boxing that Tex Rickard vacated in death and Frank January Bruen relinquished of his own accord to return to the management of the Hialeah race track in Miami, Fla.

Bruen resigned yesterday after serving as manager and vice president of the Garden since June, 1929. William F. Carey, head of boxing's wealthiest corporation, announced Bruen's retirement with reluctance and declared that only the pressing duties of Rickard's successor in Florida prompted the change.

All along the boxing marts, however, rumors of changes about to take place in the Garden have been travelling the rounds for some time. Reports that Col. John C. Hammond and Carey himself were about to resign have been denied officially. At the same time it seemed that mild temper was brewing among the "600 millionaires" the late Rickard interested in the financing of his sports palace over the fact that profits were decreasing, boxing attractions at the garden deteriorating and big outdoor fights, once financial windfalls, now showed discouraging losses.

Leading the list is Damon Runyon, sports writer, who promoted the Schmeling-Paulino fight in 1929 and who, when the squad landed in Bloomington yesterday, it was just in time to go through one of its longest sessions of the season. Unless Hughes, Dauer and Edmonds recover from injuries, the Hoosiers may have to face Notre Dame without an experienced punter. All were damaged last week and Pat Page immediately started searching for someone to fill in. The Irish first and second teams rested yesterday and were due for another off day today.

Burleigh Grimes May Join Pitching Immortals

BY JOHN B. FOSTER

(Copyright 1936)

NEW YORK—(CPA)—Much has been said about the superior winning ability of Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, star hurlers of the championship Philadelphia Athletics, over Burleigh Grimes of the St. Louis Cardinals since the 1920 world series went down in history. But the facts do not bear out these statements.

When Grimes finished the season of 1930 with the St. Louis club he had won 312 games in the major leagues, beginning at Pittsburgh in 1916. That is an average of about 21 to a season for all of his career. The total is not as large as that of some other major pitchers but it is very much larger than that which is run up by the average pitcher. In these days it is hard to get a pitcher who can win 15 games in a season. To win 15 games is made possible either by working a pitcher very often or by saving him for what is known in baseball as a "set up."

When Grimes pitched in the world series he had his record of over 800 victories to offset that of Grove, which is 115 victories in six years, or an average of about 19 to a season. Earnshaw has won 53 regular League Games All Told, or an Average of 17 2-3, which is as good as eighteen for all general purposes, not up to the record of Grimes. Grimes is the leading spitball pitcher of the times. There are only four men left. Earnshaw is probably one of the best exemplars of straight out right hand pitching in the American league and Grove is the high rolling left hander.

It is apparent that Grimes will finish his career with one of the great records of baseball as a winner over a term of years. Of young men 511 games in 22 years in both the National and the American leagues for an average of more than 23 victories to a season. That is the finest record ever made by a pitcher. Young surpasses the field in so many ways that no one can go astray in referring to him as the leading pitcher in baseball.

Grimes may last long enough to win 400 victories. If he does he will rate with Walter Johnson and others in success, but even if his arm fails to hang on long enough for that, he will be regarded as the great spitball pitcher of the National league, just as Ed Walsh always will be considered to be the smartest and most successful spitball pitcher of the American league.

ADVANCEMENT BODY TO SPONSOR EIGHTH FAIR NEXT WINTER

Association to Ask County Board for Appropriation of $1,000

Kaukauna — Kaukauna will hold its eighth annual Mid-Winter fair this winter, it was decided by the Kaukauna Advancement association Monday evening at Hotel Kaukauna. The dates of the fair will be set later. The association will ask the county board for $1,000 to aid in financing the event. This amount has been appropriated in past years. Ed Haas reported that the town of Harrison will give aid this year towards holding the event.

Memberships were placed at $5. This includes membership fee and six dinners. Membership cards will be mailed to all old members and to a number of others. It was decided to continue to hold the monthly meetings of the association on the last Wednesday of each month.

Mayor E. W. Fargo spoke of the meeting here Thursday by mayors of the cities of the valley and several members of the state sanitary board on the proposal to reestablish the old lake level. He said that the matter of sewage disposal also will be taken up.

Much interest has been evidenced in the meeting, at which it expected to organize to combat the Association for Relief of High Water. This association was formed a number of years ago in cities above the lake to prevent flooding of land and to help with sewage disposal. This seriously affects health and labor conditions in the valley cities, the mayor claims.

REPORTS ON COMPANY
J. F. Gordon, of the Fox River Veneer and Basket company, submitted a report on the progress of the company during the past year. He said that the plant is in full running order, but is handicapped by a shortage of operating money. He reported favorably on the progress being made and said that many large orders had to be turned down because of lack of capital to turn them out.

L. F. Nelson, C. E. Raught and Mayor Fargo said that the plant is working out successfully. But if more money could be secured a large crew of men could be put to work. Mr. Conant said that about $22,000 was spent in putting the plant in running order and it is now valued at $40,000. A committee of Advancement members will be named by President John Coppes to solicit more stock.

Col. F. J. Schneller, Neenah, to Be Principal Speaker on Program

Kaukauna — Col. F. J. Schneller, Neenah, past state commander of the American Legion, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the Legion park on Sunday, Nov. 9, according to Ed Haas, chairman of the arrangements committee. Col. Schneller will present the park to the city and it will be received by Mayor E. W. Fargo.

The park was begun several years ago when the post built a stone wall between Lawest bridge and Wisconsin-ave bridge. The land between the wall and Oak-st was filled in and converted into a park. This was completed last summer.

Dedication of the park will be on Nov. 9, instead of on Tuesday, Armistice Day, because a number of the Legionnaires will be forced to work on that day. The annual Legion paper publication will be edited on that day.

3 DETROIT OFFICERS RELIEVED OF BERTHS

Detroit, Mich. — (AP) — Acting on the recommendation of the Wayne-co grand jury, Police Commissioner Thomas O. Wilcox Monday removed from active service Robert A. MacPherson, deputy chief of detectives, Norval Marlett, head of the black-hand squad, and Detective Lieutenant Max Waldfoegel.

The grand jury recommended the immediate removal of the three officers last Friday. Commissioner Wilcox acted today after he had gone before the jury in an effort to learn the motives behind that body's recommendation.

MacPherson was the officer whom Patrolman Adolph Van Coppenolle last winter accused of plotting to kill Inspector Henry J. Garvin.

Study Parents' Moods To Find Effects On Children

Washington — (AP) — Father's morning grouches and mother's bridge-tea headaches are soon to be objects of a national study to determine how they affect the school grades of their children.

After focusing on the American child at the president's White House conference on child health and protection, the national searchlight of investigation will swing to the parents.

Morning parental grouches and their effect on offspring are among many subjects to be discussed by representatives from five big organizations meeting here Nov. 24 immediately after the White House conference. As a result of this meeting it is hoped to distribute to parents over all the country, by radio and inexpensive booklets, expert advice on how to solve problems relating to their children.

The organizations represented will be the American Library association, National University Extension association, National Education association, and National Parent-Teachers as well as the United States office of education.

In addition the United States commissioner of education has announced the first national conference on parent education May 1 and at Hot Springs, Ark., in cooperation with the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Miss Boss Goodykoonts, assistant commissioner of education, is directing the organization of the conference.

New York — (CPA) — Paris is going in for pastilles and bows. The bows are somewhat large, and perched upon sleeves, shoulders, hips. The pastilles are thick dots, of chenille or velvet, scattered profusely over silk or crepe. This spot-brocaded effect is used even in ensembles of frock and short jacket.

New York is wearing her printed silks with a difference. Which is to say that if you have a coat in red touched with black, your dress is black touched with red. Or if you have a coat in brown with a bit of cream stitching of fur, your dress is cream patterned in brown.

Since the womanly vogue persists, the floral scents—beloved of yore by the womanly woman—persist also. There are fresh and delightful violet and rose perfumes, the somewhat heavier hellatropes, the mignonette. And a great favorite is the lavender of gandinamma's day; put up, sometimes, in a little flacon encased in wickerwork to make it unbreakable.

Chapter 32
THE MURDERER CORNERED
In the lower hall Mrs. Winslow was startled to come upon two men talking in subdued voices; they separated at sight of her and the taller one advanced toward her and she recognized Thorne. "You are wanted upstairs," she announced, none too graciously, but he did not budge from her path. "I prefer a word with you," Miss Chase. Let me pass, please." Miss Kane entered Elsa's bedroom from hers just as Mrs. Winslow came in through the door leading to the hall. "Where is Miss Chase?" "I think she went out on the terrace. If you will wait, Mrs. Winslow, I will get her," and she sped away through her room as Thorne joined Mrs. Winslow. The latter gazed in anger at the detective. "Why are you here?" she questioned. "I, too, wish to see Miss Chase." The room was large and airy, tastefully arranged with its dainty furnishings and pretty hangings. Close at hand lay a pair of shoes and shoe trees. One of the latter caught Thorne's eye and he looked at it more closely; then, his curiosity growing, he lifted it up—in shape it resembled the ones he had seen in the box in Jack Winslow's workshop, even to the smudge on the wooden tree. On closer inspection, however, he saw that what he had taken to be a smudge on the tree was a Chinese character. "I am sorry to have kept you waiting," exclaimed Elsa, as the trained nurse pushed the chair into the center of the room. The older woman bustled forward. "It is important that I see you first, Elsa," she broke in. "I must request Mr. Thorne to leave us." "I am sorry," Thorne smiled at the irate woman. "But it is imperative that I talk with Miss Chase before she makes her get-away," pointing significantly toward the steamer trunk half-packed in a corner of the room. "Get-away!" Elsa caught up the word. In a flash of her thumb. "What do you mean, sir, by using such an expression to me?" His answer was delayed by the arrival of Arnold Winslow, followed by Ferguson and Inspector Mitchell. "So here you are, Thorne." Intent on his own affairs, Winslow failed to note the attitude of the four people already in the bedroom, for Miss Kane had not left her patient's side. "Ferguson here," indicating the gardener, who had just come in, "has just told me that Jack is living on a canal boat with old Sol Smith above the Lock Tavern Club, and claims my offered reward of ten thousand dollars. Shall I give it to him?" Thorne swung on Ferguson. "How did you get that information?" "I got it off a note Mr. Jack wrote to me," pointing to Elsa. "Lambert let it on his pillow and I just opened the envelope and—"

"Stole the letter inside it," Thorne was studying the gardener intently. "If you want that reward, tell the truth." "I is," Ferguson's lips parted in a sickly grin. "That's 'actly how I got the news. I'm tellin' ye straight." "Go on," urged Thorne softly. "Don't be afraid. Speak up, Ferguson, and tell them why you are not entitled to that reward." "What?" The gardener gazed at him in bewilderment. "One hand plucking at his collar shirt. 'I don't get yer meanin'.'"

"No," Thorne spoke with biting sarcasm. "Then I'll tell them why you are not entitled to that reward. It is because Jack Winslow isn't on the canal boat. And you know it, Ferguson, because you were there just ahead of me."

"Who, me?" "Yes, you," Thorne's voice rang out. "You, given yourself away, Ferguson, by forgetting to remove your false teeth."

With a swift and involuntary movement, Ferguson's hand went to his mouth. In place of the tobacco-stained, decayed teeth of the gardener, was his full set of even and perfectly white teeth.

"Hold him, Inspector," Thorne's tone was not to be disobeyed. "Now, Miss Chase, what's your connection with Ferguson?"

"There is no connection between us," she declared. "But the same object brought you." Thorne took a step nearer the wheel chair. "To rob Mr. Winslow. Stop!" as she would have interrupted, and his voice went relentlessly on, hammering into her ears like a miniature Niagara. "A cripple's disguise was a clever masquerade for the Dancing Silhouette!" Opening his hand he displayed the magazine page taken from Sara Kane's dying grasp. "The so-called Mrs. Lawrence had the goods on you, although, disguised as a man, you tried to bribe her to silence last night before she died."

"You are not a cripple!" Mrs. Winslow stepped forward, white and shaken. "So you killed Dr. Kane to conceal your secret?" "It wasn't her," Ferguson shouted, "but her confederate; Jack Winslow did it for her."

A scream broke from Elsa and she fell back unlimply as the closet door opened and Jack Winslow came out of his hiding place. No one spoke as he advanced toward Ferguson. "You, Ferguson," he spoke in little above a whisper. "What's your proof against me?" "I went through the things you took from here to the canal boat. It was Ferguson speaking, but they would not have recognized his voice had they not been looking at him; it was so altered. And there, Jack Winslow, I found the fire extinguisher you filled with carbon monoxide gas; can you deny it?"

"No." Elsa clutched the sides of her chair and gazed in agony at her lover as he pronounced the solemn monosyllable. Ferguson turned to Inspector Mitchell. "Go to the canal boat and get the fire extinguisher—it's the final proof you need of who killed Kane."

"True," agreed Thorne quietly. "I have it here," and raising his hand he beckoned to Jim, his assistant, loitering just outside the door. Stepping past Arnold Winslow and the inspector, Jim brought in a large package carefully wrapped and an envelope. Thorne took the latter from him.

"There is no human beast today so vile as the dealer in narcotics who stays clean himself but is willing to contaminate others with the poison he sells." Thorne faced Jack and Elsa, his face stern, unrelenting. "You, Elsa, and Ferguson, have come to steal cocaine." He stopped and took from the envelope two cards. "That fire extinguisher bears the finger prints of the person guilty of selling narcotics and also of the murderer of Kane. In my office, I had this copy made," holding it up for all to see. "That finger print on the fire extinguisher tallied with another accidentally made in my office on Monday afternoon by Arnold Winslow."

"You lie, damn you!" Livid, swaying on his feet, Winslow faced Thorne as he snatched up the wooden shoe tree.

"Here is my proof," he exclaimed. "Cocaine is concealed in this hollow wood, imported from China. Others, like this, are upstairs in the attic. Elsa and I found your cache, you scoundrel!" Thorne's face was grim. "You and Ferguson were before you killed Kane with diabolical ingenuity. Twice, thrice, Winslow tried to speak, then before anyone guessed his intention, his right hand flew up—the flash of the revolver was there, only warning before Winslow fell headlong to the floor, a bullet in his brain."

Why has Elsa Chase played the part of a cripple? Who was the Dancing Silhouette? Tomorrow's chapter reveals.

BITTER FIGHT NEARS CLOSE IN ILLINOIS

Politicians Wonder if Thompson's Stand Will Benefit Candidate Lewis

Chicago—(P)—The Illinois senatorial race, a battle of personalities that has engrossed the country, nears the Nov. 4 balloting, attained to a new high pitch of interest over eleven hour developments in the struggle for Cook-co votes.

William Hale Thompson, Republican mayor of Chicago, with the political showmanship for which he is noted, set new forces in motion by engaging in a duel with Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for the senate.

He has announced his support of James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic senatorial nominee; the Cook-co Republican organization did not follow his lead and the repercussions of those moves have spurred public interest in a campaign that has set many political precedents.

The dramatic and unexpected entrance of "Big Bill" came after Lewis and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, independent, had charged Mrs. McCormick with his support. "The Tammany of Illinois" is the way Mrs. O'Neill characterized the Thompson and Cook-co Republican organization, Lewis inveighed against the "city hall crowd."

"Job Director" at White House

"It's going to be a war on human misery," said Col. Arthur M. Woods, left, to eager Washington reporters who met him at the door of the White House following his conference with President Hoover on their campaign for the relief of unemployment. "We shall try to put into operation every factor for improvement." Colonel Woods, chosen by the Chief Executive as director of the national project, is a former New York City police commissioner and is experienced in employment campaigns.

Don't Operate Car If Equipment Is Faulty!

Madison—It is almost suicidal to operate an automobile when the driver knows that the equipment is faulty; that the brakes are out of repair; or that the tires are liable to blow out, if the machine is driven rapidly. These facts were pointed out in the weekly bulletin issued by the State Highway commission today. An educational campaign is being conducted by the department with the cooperation of newspapers of the state in an effort to reduce automobile accidents. The bulletin today declares that no one should operate an automobile if the driver knows the mechanism is faulty.

"While improper condition of motor vehicles is responsible for only a small proportion of the total number of motor vehicle accidents, this cause is one that can and should be removed," declares the Highway Commission's bulletin. "While the percentages of accidents is relatively small, the total number is considerable. Furthermore, the cause is easily removed, and with great benefits to the motorists themselves. Faulty equipment accidents are divisible into three major classes, those caused by poor brakes, poor tires, and poor steering equipment.

"There is no excuse whatever for poor brakes, because the motorist cannot fail to know whether or not his brakes are good. There are many places in which a motor vehicle may go wrong without the driver being immediately aware of it, but it is impossible to drive a motor vehicle for as much as ten minutes and not know if the brakes are bad. Especially if the vehicle is operated at high speeds the brakes should be good, but in no case should there be temporizing with bad brakes. Sooner or later the time is coming when the vehicle must be stopped and stopped quickly, and this cannot be done unless the brakes are in good condition. The best of brakes will not excuse bad driving, however. A skidding on a wet road will often make them temporarily unreliable. Watch out for this and take proper care.

WATCH 3 STATES IN DRY LAW FIGHT

his own candidacy are not present while all the assets of his popularity are likely to be preserved in the quarters where Al Smith will always have a considerable influence.

The situation in Illinois is much different from that in the Bay state because the normal Republican majority is so big that defections on account of the prohibition issue need not necessarily affect the final verdict. The impression definitely growing outside of Illinois is that the race is close and rather even. This was the same point of view which was held about Mrs. McCormick's nomination against former Senator Deen. Mrs. McCormick's majority was double what she herself expected. Her strength with the voters therefore is not easy to estimate.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

Already the Democrats feel sure of winning the senatorial contest in Ohio with their wet candidate former Senator Bulkley so that in the former state with the exception of New Jersey the Republicans are not likely to profit very much by the prohibition issue.

This last week of the campaign will see much more speech making on the radio than all the preceding weeks and good deal more stump speaking. Campaigns nowadays are being concentrated in the last week and final impressions made by the candidates themselves will be relatively more important than before. The Democrats hereabouts are so convinced they are going to win the house of representatives that they are beginning to talk of conference and parleys for next month in order to tell the country what they have in mind. One thing is certain. If the Democrats do make substantial gains, and this seems to be conceded already, they will derive considerable encouragement for their 1932 activities. Conversely the Republican administration is bound to feel just so much discouraged, though efforts will be made to attribute the mood of the voters entirely to economic conditions rather than to particular issues.

UP TO VOTERS

Mrs. McCormick's stand on prohibition is identical with that of the state Republican party platform—to abide by the decision of the voters on the prohibition referendum. The democratic state platform calls for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and supporting legislation. Lewis has a stand for repeal of the amendment and to permit each state to decide for itself on the liquor question. Mrs. O'Neill is uncompromisingly for the prohibition amendment and all legislation pertaining to it.

Entering the race by petition, Mrs. O'Neill asserted that Mrs. McCormick, by not taking an unequivocal stand, had "betrayed her party."

Some of the congressional races were furnished dramatic incidents. Mark L. Smith, elected to the senate in 1926 and three times denied a seat, was accepted campaign contributions from public utilities while Illinois commerce commissioner, seeking election as representative-at-large. The Chicago Negro congressman, Oscar DePriest, again is a candidate. Long on ally and political partner of Governor Thompson, he spoke with the mayor in refusing to support Lewis for senator and sided with McCormick candidacy in the senate race.

The senatorial race has remained the spotlight. It has set a mark for new campaigns. Mrs. McCormick has made two complete tours of the state, and her big campaign car rolled into every nook of downstate Illinois. She bought the automobile, a touring car, last January and has used it only for campaign purposes. Its speedometer has just ticked past the 36,000 mile mark.

GUARD AGAINST SOVIETISM, IS SPEAKER'S PLEA

Help Spread Warning About System, J. N. Tittlemore Declares

Russian Sovietism and its efforts to disrupt American business by overthrowing the capitalist system and reducing American farmers to tenancy, was outlined by J. N. Tittlemore, United States marshal, Milwaukee, at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club at Conway hotel Monday noon.

The Russian system is based entirely on Marxian socialism, whereby the government owns all the farm land and collects about three-quarters of the produce for the operation of governmental affairs, he stated.

"There is no capital in Russia and all of the farmers have been reduced to tenancy," he said. "They are nothing more than a slave driven race reduced to the old system of serfdom."

"The ownership of private property, which has been the foundation of American principles, being definitely outlined in the Constitution must be maintained and held as sacred. America must never be Sovietized, although that monstrous octopus is slowly winding its tentacles around the governmental fibre of many countries."

"Russian wheat must be kept out of this country to kill off competition with the American farmer. Few people realize how it is possible with such a high tariff rate, and low wheat prices, for Russia to land 10,000,000 bushels on American shores."

"Little do they realize that the government grasps 40 of every 50 bushels of wheat from Russian farmers, and is able to sell it at such a price, so as to offset the tariff rate, and sell short on the American market."

He urged the Lions club to help spread the warning against Sovietism.

"The rural affairs committee of the chamber of commerce will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening to complete plans for the city and town folks dinner meeting to be held in the near future. Arrangements for the affair are being made under the supervision of W. E. Smith, chairman of the committee, and Gus Sell, Outagamie-co agricultural agent."

Probably the largest shark ever captured was caught off the coast of Florida in 1912. It weighed 26,594 pounds.

On the up-to-date car, corresponding to the one just cited, the tire will probably be 32x6 inches, which means a 6 1/2 inch tire on a 19 inch rim. A high speed for the old car would be 45 miles an hour while for the modern car 60 miles an hour would not be at all unusual. If one of these 6 1/2 inch tires should blow out under these conditions there would be a drop of 6 1/2 inches with the 19 inch rim. Control of the car is hard to keep under such conditions. There have been many accidents of late from this cause. In some cases the accident has been confined to the car sustaining the blow-out, but there have been cases where the blow-out has pulled the car over into the lane of approaching traffic and caused a head-on collision with another car. This is likely to have fatal results.

There has been considerable discussion about the relative bad effects of a blow-out of a front tire versus a blow-out on a rear tire. The practice of operating with the best tires on the front wheels is becoming quite common. The safe practice is to have good tires on all four wheels. Keep tires well inflated, and as soon as a set of tires has returned a reasonable mileage discard it and put on a new set of tires all around. You may get by with a few dollars less by extracting the last three or four thousand miles out of the old set, but you may also have a blow-out and as a consequence, an accident that will cost you the price of several sets of tires. Furthermore, the price of tires is down. It was never so cheap to keep old Betsy well shod as now.

A faulty steering gear is more difficult to detect than a poor set of brakes or a poor set of tires, but if your wheels begin to chatter or shimmy look to your steering gear at once. No careful motorist, however, can afford to wait this long, or to take any chances at all with the steering gear. Let a competent mechanic check it up every thousand miles, and have everything wrong fixed up.

Kenosha—(P)—Promotion of civic beauty will be discussed and debated by city planners and development engineers from various points in the midwest when the Wisconsin City and Regional Planning association meets here Thursday and Friday.

According to William E. O'Brien, Kenosha city manager and secretary of the state conference, the association will study street tree planting, county parks and parkways, traffic control, city planning achievements in several communities, and other civic enterprises.

C. B. Whitnall, Milwaukee, president of the association, will open the convention on Thursday morning. Coleman Woodbury, of the Institute for research in land economics, Northwestern university, will be the first speaker. His topic is "Financing the City Plan."

Delegates to the meet will banquet at the Elks club Thursday night and on the following morning will be taken for an inspection tour of the city. The Kenosha planning achievements for the past five years will be shown to the tourists.

In addition to Mr. Woodbury, speakers include: Phelps Wyman, Milwaukee landscape architect; Henry Taylor, Janesville city manager; Jacob Crane, Chicago city planner; M. W. Torkelson, state regional planning engineer; Harold Olson, Chicago highway engineer, and E. A. Howard, Milwaukee county planning engineer.

An entire afternoon in the conference is to be devoted to inspecting Kenosha's city planning and zoning projects, which include the civic center and various street widening projects.

C. B. Whitnall is president of the state conference. Other officers are E. B. Parker, Madison, vice president; and E. O'Brien, Kenosha secretary.

Must Spend Billion In Year For Veterans' Compensation

Washington—(P)—A billion dollar outlay will be needed next year to meet the government's increasing bill for veterans' compensation and pensions.

Despite efforts of the administration of veterans' affairs to keep estimates below the billion figure, demands for pensions, hospitalization and compensation under the laws created by congress last spring have brought the total to staggering heights.

Preliminary estimates for the veterans' bureau alone for the next fiscal year indicate a probable increase of more than $100,000,000. Appropriations for the bureau last year amounted to about $550,000,000 and with the added demands, the numerous new hospitals and attendant expenses, the cost of operation next year is expected to amount to nearly $665,000,000.

The annual outlay of the pensions bureau, handling Spanish-American and Civil war claims, already has amounted to more than $200,000,000. With the increased demands for Spanish-American veterans and their dependents authorized by the last congress, a substantial increase in expenditures is anticipated. Use by veterans of all wars of the various branches of the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers is expected to increase their annual maintenance costs by many millions.

Until congress authorized the consolidation of the national soldiers home, formerly under the war department, and the pensions bureau, under the interior department, with the independent veterans bureau, the annual veterans bill was split three ways, but totaled about $800,000,000.

Congress will receive the first combined estimate early in January. With the exception of the consolidated treasury-postoffice annual supply bill which usually is in excess of a billion dollars, the appropriations to be requested by the veterans agency will exceed all others. Under present plans, they will aggregate more than the combined costs of maintaining the military and naval establishments and the interior department.

As an indication of the growth of the agency, it was made known that within three and a half months after passage of the World war veterans pension bill applications had been received from 224,355 veterans. Seventeen per cent of these already have been adjudicated. About 51 per cent was allowed, calling for an increased outlay of $420,000 annually.

Of the claim allowed 5,239 were for 100 per cent disability.

INDUSTRIAL GROUP SEEKS REARGUMENT OF LINE CLASS RATE

Association Files Brief With Interstate Commerce Commission

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—The Eastern Iowa Industrial association has filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission seeking a reargument of the Western Trunk Line Class Rate in order to have eastern Iowa classed with the portion of southern Wisconsin which takes Illinois rates.

Claiming that the industrial development of southern Wisconsin and eastern Iowa is very similar to that of Illinois, the Association, which is composed of chambers of commerce of various cities including Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Mason City, and Grinnell, seeks a 25 per cent reduction in the rates prescribed for Iowa.

All of Iowa was included in Zone I, the lowest of the three zones established by the I. C. C., which also included most of Wisconsin, and parts of Missouri and Minnesota. The rates in this territory, which go into effect on February 1, 1931, will be about 125 per cent of the Illinois scale rate. A small portion of Wisconsin south of a line from Dodgeville through Madison to Milwaukee is classed as part of Illinois as far as freight rates go, and eastern Iowa desires a similar classification. Kenosha, Racine, and Janesville are representative Badger cities in the Wisconsin portion.

The Iowa brief says that "if conditions in Wisconsin were sufficiently variant to prescribe three separate bases of rates, there should be at least two distinct bases in Iowa." The brief asserts that eastern Iowa is "inseparably related" to Illinois and Wisconsin, not only because of similar commercial conditions but because it is served by the same carriers. Moreover, it states that there is no break in freight train service at the Mississippi River or at the Iowa-Illinois State line, just as there is no break at the Wisconsin-Illinois line.

Under the present prescribed rates, the Commission is unduly favoring Illinois and southern and eastern Wisconsin and creating an abnormal hump at the Mississippi, the Iowa association says, and it has reduced the field of operation of industry in Iowa while broadening the field in Illinois and Wisconsin and central territory to their undue advantage.

The entire state of Wisconsin felt a similar need for a rating equality with Illinois and was so eager for such equality that it said, in its brief filed before the Commission made its decision, "any scale, irrespective of level, that may be found appropriate for Illinois would be willingly accepted by Wisconsin." However, it was unsuccessful in its plea, and that part of the state within a line passing through Green Bay, south to Menasha, Watertown, Madison, Dodgeville, then south along the Illinois Central Railway to the Illinois-Wisconsin State line, is rated 25 per cent higher than Illinois. Commission Porter of the I. C. C. dissented from the Commission's decision stating "I am in thorough disagreement with prescription of any rate level in Wisconsin, eastern Minnesota, Iowa, and northern Missouri, which is as much as 25 per cent higher than the rate level in Illinois." He added that the Commission had never in 48 years approved a rate on any commodity in that territory that much higher than the Illinois rate.

AGAIN KONJOLA GIVES PROOF OF ITS MERITS

Happy Man Says "I Wish I
Had Heard of Konjola a Year Ago"

MR. HENRY MARKS

"I wish I had known about Konjola a year ago," said Mr. Henry Marks, 1708 Washington avenue, Racine. "For a year I was afflicted with stomach disorder. There were many foods I could not eat. I always had a dull pain in my stomach, and after meals this always got worse. It was especially severe at night, and many a night my rest was bad. I never felt like getting up in the morning; always had a bad taste in my mouth, and had little appetite. "Pains in my back made it possible to do only light work. I was badly constipated, and was without energy. I tried many different medicines without relief until I found Konjola. I have taken three bottles, and my appetite is good. I sleep much better, and have no stomach pain. My bowels are in fine condition, and I feel like a different man altogether. I will always recommend Konjola."

What Konjola has done for others it will do for you. This is especially true if Konjola is given a fair trial for six or eight weeks. Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schintz Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

DISCUSS BARGE ROUTE AT OSHKOSH MEETING

Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce officials have invited representatives of all towns and cities between Green Bay and Prairie du Chien to meet in Oshkosh Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans for securing a nine-foot barge canal from Green Bay to Oshkosh and from Oshkosh, by way of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, to the Mississippi river.

The meeting is the culmination of a gathering in Oshkosh last week in which R. S. McElwaine, engineer of Harvard, who is making a port plan and survey of the Green Bay harbor, met with the directors and traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce and others from this section interested in the canal route.

Towns and cities in the district have been notified of the meeting in Oshkosh next Wednesday. Those on the lower end of the proposed route are Portage, Merrimac, Prairie du Sac, Sauk City, Mazomanie, Arena, Spring Green, Love Rock, Gotham Avoca Muskoda, Blue River Rosobel, Wauzeka, Bridgeport, Prairie du Chien, Woodman, Endeavor, Montello, and Princeton.

Those on the upper end of the proposed route are Berlin, Omro, Wisconsin, Oshkosh, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Appleton, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha, De Pere, Wrightstown and Green Bay.

Yesterday's Stickler Solved

The answer to the bookworm puzzle is two and one-half inches. You will find that, when three books are placed together, as in the sketch, the first page of the first volume and the last page of the third volume are the ones that are actually nearest to the middle volume. That would mean that the bookworm has only four covers and the distance of the middle book to go, which is a total of two and one-half inches.

INVITE KOHLER TO AIR LAW MEETING

Conference Scheduled for
Dec. 16, 17 at Washington, D. C.

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Gov. Walter J. Kohler, Wisconsin's flying governor, has been invited by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont to send two representatives to a conference to be held here Dec. 16-17 on uniform aeronautic regulatory laws.

Although substantial progress has already been made in standardizing laws by cooperation between the several states and the Department of Commerce, other important things remain to be done, Secretary Lamont said in calling the conference. Uniformity of state, federal, and municipal air laws, regulations, and practices is one of the most important factors in the development of air commerce, he said.

The program of the conference will include five fundamental subjects: Uniform basic regulatory state law; adoption of federal air traffic rules by the states for purposes of local enforcement; methods of local enforcement; state enabling acts for airport acquisition and control; importance of uniform airport field rules.

The aircraft industry, all the states, the United States Department of Commerce, and the National Aeronautical Association have been invited to send representatives to the conference.

BANK FIGURES SHOW NO BUSINESS RISE

Madison —(AP)— On the basis of bank debit figures reported by the Federal Reserve banks of Chicago and Minneapolis, business showed no improvement in Wisconsin during September as compared with the previous month, the University of Wisconsin of business information reported today.

A 20 per cent decrease in bank debit figures for 10 Wisconsin cities was reported. The national decrease was 25.7 per cent. Cities declines were: Ashland, 12.4 per cent; Chippewa Falls, 9.3 per cent; Eau Claire, 8.2 per cent; Hudson, 15.3 per cent; La Crosse, 13.2 per cent; Superior 14.5 per cent; Milwaukee, 21.9 per cent; Green Bay, 9.9 per cent; Oshkosh, 21.1 per cent; Sheboygan, 16.3 per cent.

The comparison was made, the bureau said, between the declining period of 1930 and the sharply rising one of last year. Some evidences of better conditions were noted in the prices of agricultural products.
